HOW STANDARD OIL GETS ADVANTAGE

Rates to African Ports Less Than Half Those Charged Its Rival

RAILROAD DISCRIMINATION

President Moffett Fails to Make Good Assertions Appearing in Pamphlet

New York, Oct. 4.—An omnibus contract, whereby the Standard Oil company obtains from every steamship company operating between New York and all ports in Africa a rate for lubricating oil that is about one-half of what its competitor, the New York Lubricator company, pays, was produced today in the hearings of the federal suit against the alleged oil combine.

This contract was placed in evidence and Philip Harrison, manager of the New York Lubricator company, declared that his company was forced to pay double the Standard Oil rate, notwithstanding his protest to the steamship companies. Mr. Harrison said that by reason of the freight discrimination the Standard could place its products in Africa at less than the cost price of the oils of his own company, and that to maintain African trade the New York Lubricator Oil company was forced to purchase from the Standard the cheaper grades of oils which it sold to its customers.

Mr. Harrison said that the shipping charges to his company were increased from 21 shillings until they reached 42 shillings and sixpence in 1905. The contract with the Standard, made Feb. 10, 1906, with the Hansa, Prince, Houston and American-African steamship lines, made the rate for the Standard for oil shipments slightly less than 17 shillings. The witness declared that he wrote a letter to the steamship agents demanding equal rates for the companies, but no change in the charges was made.

W. Tarbell, of Philadelphia, treasurer of the Pure Oil company, and of the U. S. Pipe line, corroborated the difficulties his company had been encountering in competition with the Standard. Mr. Tarbell stated that the business of the Pure Oil company was placed in districts selected with a view to avoiding business relations with certain railroads, whose rate discriminations were more feared by the company than the opposition of the Standard. Mr. Tarbell is a brother of Miss Ida Tarbell, who has written much about the Standard Oil company.

Mr. Tarbell said the United States Pipe Line had great difficulty in reaching Marchus Hook, Pa., its terminus. When the pipe line reached Hancock, Pa., in 1892, the Erie Railroad objected to its passing over their right of way, and at Wilkesbarre the Pennsylvania and Lackawanna railroads tried to prevent the pipe line passing under their tracks.

Mr. Tarbell said the National Transit and the Tidewater pipe line companies had secured the privilege of passing under railroad tracks. Mr. Tarbell said that while the independent pipe line was being constructed the Standard cut prices and the independent refineries were forced in some instances to sell refined oil under the cost of crude oil. When the independent line reached Marchus Hook, Pa., the witness said, further cut were made in prices by the Standard Oil, and three independent companies, the International Oil Co., the Union Refining Co., and the S. Y. Ramage company, gave up the fight and sold out. The Standard bought the refineries, and through the purchase obtained control of a percentage of the U. S. pipe line. He said the Standard had no interest in the Pure Oil company.

Mr. Tarbell said, in 1906 the Pure Oil company, purchased nearly all the stock of the Producer's Oil company, Ltd., and 52 per cent of the stock of the United States Line Co. In the early nineties, Mr. Tarbell testified a trust agreement was entered into by stockholders in the Pure Oil company to prevent interests inimical to the company from obtaining control. Mr. Tarbell said the Standard cut prices in Philadelphia so that the Pure Oil company was forced to withdraw from the market. The Standard also cut prices in this city, and for three years the Pure Oil Co. lost money, after which the price rose so the company was doing a profitable business. Mr. Tarbell testified that the Pure Oil company laid out districts in which to do business so as to "keep away from certain railroads which were more to be feared because of their discriminations than the Standard Oil company." These discriminations were in favor of the Standard Oil company, Mr. Tarbell said.

President Moffett Fails.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—The grand jury before which President James A. Moffett, of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, was recently called, to afford him an opportunity to substantiate certain statements made over his name in a pamphlet which has been extensively circulated across the continent, returned its report to Judge Landis, of the United States district court, today. The jury declared that President Moffett had not only failed to uphold the statements made, but that he had no knowledge whatever leading up to them, and the statement purporting to be made by him was in fact made by Mortiz, of this city, one of the attorneys for the Standard Oil company in the recent trial which resulted in its conviction and the levying against it by Judge Landis of the fine of $29,240,000. The particular statement in the pamphlet to which the jury was instructed to call the attention of President Moffett was as follows:

"Thousands of tons of freight have been shipped from these points (Whiting, Pullman and South Chicago) during the past 15 years, under the same circumstances as the Standard shipments, and if the Standard is guilty in this case so is practically every other shipper in this great manufacturing territory. Is there a purpose in selecting the Standard as a victim?"

Judge Landis in instructing the jury declared that the pamphlet containing these words had been extensively circulated, and he desired that the grand jury should be given every opportunity to inform the jury regarding illegal shipments by other people or corporations. After receiving the report of the jury today the judge dismissed it without comment on the report, other than to thank the jurors for their services.

Post Office Burglarized.

Weymouth Bridge, N.S., Oct. 4.—The post office here was burglarized last night and $300 stolen. The burglary was evidently the work of amateurs. The registered letters stolen were found this morning outside of the post office window.

Disgrace and Death.

Davenport, Iowa, Oct. 4.—The arrest and suicide of James H. Ferrand, superintendent of delivery of the Davenport post office, this morning created a sensation. He was charged with opening registered mail. The thefts from mail at the Davenport post office have puzzled the authorities for several years. Detectives have been working on the case for the past month, and claim to have caught Ferrand with decoy letters and to have a plain case against him. Ferrand was bound over to the federal grand jury, gave bail and later was found dead, having suffocated himself with chloroform.

SENATOR COX FOR ASIATIC LABOR

Tells Calgary People He Would Like to See Doors Set Wide Open

Calgary, Oct. 4.—At an informal luncheon given to Senator Cox today by friends, in making a short speech the senator stated that he noted Calgary's great improvement every time he came, and since his last visit, three years ago, the improvement had been greater than at any previous time. "Calgary impresses me," he said "as a place with a great future. Its characteristics are of something more than the ordinary large town, or even the small city, and it will become one of the largest and prosperous cities of the Dominion. No observing visitor can see it without being convinced of its metropolitan future."

"If more labor was available, a larger amount of capital would be distributed, and the general condition of the country would be improved."

He did not know how Calgary felt about the question, but he was confident from looking at the general welfare of the country that the true policy doors and opened labor from every country. He believed it was a mistake to try and keep out labor when the country was suffering and being pulled back for the want of it. He was told in Vancouver that if he lived on the coast he would not say this, but he looked at the question from a better point of view, and he believed he was right. He appealed to both political parties to keep the Asiatic question from being made a political one. If the Grand Trunk Pacific could get more help it would be pushed ahead much more rapidly. There was $17,000,000 or $18,000,000 lying on deposit in the bank in the old country waiting to be spent on work on the Grand Trunk Pacific, but they could not get enough men. The contractors working between Edmonton and Winnipeg did not want work to begin in the mountain section, because it would draw their men away. He could assure them that in the near future that road would be looking for a share of the business of this city, just as in the East the C. P. R. was either already in or was heading for every important town and city where the Grand Trunk was established.

Strike at New Orleans.

New Orleans, Oct. 4.—The dock and cotton council of New Orleans, whose members come from all classes of laborers employed in connection with the shipping of the port, numbering about 12,000 men, voted this afternoon for a general strike. They demand an increase in wages.

GREAT OVATION TO MR. BORDEN

Calgary Gives a Notable Demonstration in Honor of Leader

AN EFFECTIVE ADDRESS

Laurier Government's Maladministration of the Country's Affairs

Calgary, Oct. 4.—In his opening remarks Senator Loughheed, chairman of the Borden demonstration meeting to-night, described the meeting as the most notable ever held in Calgary and the ovation to Mr. Borden as the best ever given any public man in Alberta.

The meeting was held in the Vaudette theatre, and the only drawback to the demonstration was that the theatre was unable to accommodate more than half of the people who desired admission. The doors had to be closed long before the hour for the beginning of addresses. The audience was very appreciative; there was not a single hostile interruption during the entire evening.

Mr. Borden was in good form, and spoke for an hour and a half. He paid special attention to public matters of interest to the province, dealing somewhat more at length and more effectively with the question of rights of the new provinces to their lands than in previous addresses. He referred at length to the Blairmore townsite scandal, the grazing lease and the Calgary Cattle company episode. He also dealt effectively with the transcontinental railway, with government ownership of telephones and telegraphs, improvement of the postal system and extension of the powers of the railway commissions.

M. S. McCarthy spoke briefly, and Mr. Bergeron electrified the audience. In the afternoon the Conservatives of Calgary held a meeting and elected the following officers: Honorary presidents, R. L. Borden, M. S. McCarthy; president, Rev. Dr. Macrae; first vice president, Dr. Brett; second vice president, J. L. McConnell; third vice president, T. H. Magee. A secretary-treasurer has not yet been appointed. The executive will be the elected officers and members from polling district.

SUCCESS OF WIRELESS SEEMS TO BE ASSURED

Signor Marconi Gets Exchange of Messages Between Glace Bay and Clifden

Sydney, N.S., Oct. 4.—"Wireless telegraphy will be a commercial success within the time I have mentioned," said Signor Marconi today. "Every day I am talking with Clifden and receiving replies."

Asked for a message to be published, Marconi told the operator to send the following query: "How is everything working today?"

"Smooth as oil," came the reply from Clifden.

Then Marconi asked: "How is the news of our progress being taken on the other side?"

"Commercial people jubilant and newspapers expressing confidence over results," came the reply.

The inventor said everything was working satisfactorily, and he had no words of complaint.

Immigration Figures

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—The total immigration into Canada during the five months to August 31, inclusive, totalled 174,647, an increase of 41,232 over the corresponding period a year ago. Of the total 143,394 came in at ocean ports, an increase of 43,900, and 31,253 came from the United States, an increase of 2,668.

RIOTS IN CALCUTTA.

Seditious Agitators Cause Outbreak Among Natives.

Calcutta, Oct. 4.—The rioting caused by seditious agitators during which about forty policemen were wounded Tuesday night was renewed last night in the streets of Northern Calcutta. Students and hoodlums collected on the roofs of houses and in roadways and pelted passersby with bricks. Europeans being especially singled out for attack. The Bengal newspapers today threw the whole blame for the riots upon the police, and printed statements alleging police brutality, all of which is denied by authorities and the witnesses. There has been no loss of life, but many persons sustained severe wounds.

BANK CLEARINGS

Bradstreet's Report Shows Decrease in Aggregate

New York, Oct. 4.—Bradstreet's bank clearings report for the week ending Oct. 2, shows an aggregate of $2,99,088,000, as against $2,477,849,000 last week and $3,420,618,000 for the same week last year.

Canadian clearings for the week totalled $83,220,000, as against $78,625,000 last week and $96,168,000 for the same week last year.

The following is a list of Canadian cities:

A KEEN CONTEST

Saskatchewan Attorney-General Has to Fight for His Seat

Prince Albert, Oct. 4.—Attorney-General Turgeon, Liberal, and J. E. Bradshaw, Provincial Rights, were nominated in the provincial bye-election in Prince Albert city, made necessary by the elevation of Hon. J. E. Lamont to the bench. Polling takes place Saturday, Oct. 12, and it is expected a keen fight will ensue. Hon. J. A. Calder, minister of education, is assisting Mr. Turgeon in his campaign. Mr. Bradshaw will have the help of his leader, Mr. Haultain, who is billed to speak on Friday night, and of R. L. Borden, who has put the date of his Prince Albert meeting forward so as to be here on the night before polling.

VANCOUVER RIOTERS.

Grand Jury Returns True Bills Against Seven Men

Vancouver, Oct. 4.—The grand jury this afternoon returned "no bill" against six men sent up for trial in connection with the riots. In seven other cases true bills were found. The trials will take place next week.

Rudyard Kipling is expected to arrive here tomorrow morning, and will address the Canadian club at luncheon on Monday.

Coal Mine Fatality.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 4.—An explosion of gas occurred in mine No. 7 of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company at Pratt City this morning, and a cave-in of the roof followed. Four miners, including the bank boss, were caught behind the cave-in and were believed to be dead. The number of injured were taken to hospitals.

WARM WELCOME AT MEDICINE HAT

Mr. Borden Addresses Great Meeting at Lively Alberta City

Medicine Hat, Alberta, Oct. 4.—R. L. Borden, J. G. H. Bergeron, Dr. Reid and John Herron, of the touring Conservative party, arrived here yesterday on the Crow line, and found the city gay with bunting. Residents on every side, regardless of political persuasion, were all anxious to extend the glad hand. In the morning the visitors, accompanied by officers of the local Conservative Association, were taken for a ride over the city and out to several of the nearest ranches. After luncheon the party were entertained at a bronco busting match, in which eight of the best riders of the West participated. The sport lasted two hours.

The opera house never before held a bigger crowd than that which filled it to the doors in the evening to hear those gentlemen speak. Their reception was a most cordial one, and all were listened to with attention.

Mr. Borden's reference to the question of Asiatic immigration was awaited with interest, the proximity of British Columbia to this district making the question a very live issue here. He introduced the subject by speaking of the visit of Hon. Mr. Fisher to Japan and his assurance to the effect that not more than 500 Japanese could leave their own home for Canada in one year, and these would not be of the laboring classes. He claimed that either the government deceived the people in making this statement, or they were now in a position to take steps for the abrogation of that treaty. For himself Mr. Borden stated that he held that the people of the West were the people who must be consulted, and must point out the solution of this problem. Regard would have to be taken, of course, to all treaty rights, but still it must be kept in mind that the West should be up-built by the great races who had built up the East.

DASH FOR THE POLE

Dr. Cook Will Try To Reach It By a New Route.

New York, Oct. 4.—A message was received today by Herbert Bridgman, secretary of the Peary Arctic club, from Dr. Frederic A. Cook, the scientist and explorer of New York, announcing the fact that Dr. Cook was prepared to make a dash for the north pole by the route through Nansen strait. The dispatch was dated Elah, August 6, 1907, as follows: "My Dear Bridgman—I have hit upon a new route to the north pole, and will try to try it. By way of Buchanan bay and Ellesmere land and northward through Nansen strait over the polar sea, seems to me to be a very good route. There will be game to the 82nd degree, and here are natives and dogs for the task. So here is for the pole. Mr. Bradley will tell you the rest. Kind regards to all. Yours cordially, F. A. Cook."

MINISTERS RETURN

Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Brodeur Welcomed at Quebec

Quebec, Oct. 4.—The Allan liner Victorian, with Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. L. P. Brodeur on board, arrived here about two this afternoon. The ministers were met on their arrival by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada, and the local ministers in town, and a host of other prominent personages. They were escorted to the Chateau Frontenac, where another warm greeting awaited them from the large assemblage gathered there. A demonstration under the auspices of the Quebec board of trade took place this evening in the Empire room of the Chateau Frontenac in honor of the two ministers, as a mark of gratitude for the conclusion of the first Canadian treaty of commerce with Canadian statesmen. Among those present were Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Mr. Lemieux, Hon. Mr. Pugsley and Hon. Mr. Bursell, of the federal government and members of the Quebec government.

BITTER FIGHT OF THE MAGNATES

Ex-President Fish Makes Another Attack on the Harriman Wing

ALLEGES ACCOUNT JUGGLE

Active Transfer of Shares to Get Majority on Illinois Central Board

New York, Oct. 4.—Stuyvesant Fish, former president of the Illinois Central, today gave out a statement regarding the Hartford conference of the stockholders in that company.

"I shall be more than glad to see the holders in every city in the country thus get together of their own volition and send representatives of their own choosing to the meeting in Chicago on October 16. It is in this way that stockholders can best come to know what is being done with their property."

"The Illinois Central road's statement of revenue and expenses for the two months ended August 31, 1907, shows that in August, with an increase of $300,250 in revenue there was a decrease of $248,917 in net receipts, thus confirming, as their statement for July did, what I said about the net receipts having been padded in order to make a good showing, which showing the present management used assiduously in its hunt for proxies. They have now mailed at least four applications for proxies to stockholders, and as so many stockholders have written me, are employing paid agents all over the country, besides using the time and services of a great number of the company's officers and employees to solicit proxies."

"Except in Mr. Harriman's case, the changes are unimportant."

"The company's books show that on September 18, 1907, 14,000 shares of Illinois Central stock were transferred from the name of the Railroad Securities company to that of E. H. Harriman, and that on September 20, 1907, 1,000 more were transferred from the Railroad Securities company to directors, officers and clerks of the Union Pacific and allied companies for the obvious purpose of qualifying them to attend the Illinois Central meeting and work therein for the interest of their employees."

"These books also show that from the Union Pacific holdings of Illinois Central shares transfers were at that time made to the names, among others, of two of Mr. Harriman's attorneys in the Chicago and Alton, several men who sell supplies to the Illinois Central, and a number of its attorneys, officers and agents, including Mr. A. G. Hackett, its vice president. In the investigation before the Interstate Commerce Commission last winter, it was proved that Union Pacific had in July and October, 1906, bought from Mr. Harriman practically all the shares of the Railroad Securities company, which owned 95,000 shares of Illinois Central."

"It is not for me to say whether Mr. Harriman has now, in fact, bought those 95,000 shares of Illinois Central from the Railroad Securities company, of which he is president, or if so whether he has paid for them at the price at which he sold his Railroad Securities company shares to the Union Pacific last year, which was on the basis of Illinois Central shares being worth $175 each, as has paid for them on the basis of the present market value of Illinois Central, which is about $135 per share. Indeed, I have no reason to believe that Mr. Harriman has paid for them at all. That, however, is a matter which does not concern us, but should interest the stockholders of the Union Pacific, who will meet in Salt Lake City on October 8."

"WHITE SLAVE" TRAFFIC

Washington Authorities Will Take Suppressive Measures.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Secretary Straus, of the department of commerce and labor, and Frank P. Sargent, commissioner general of immigration, have determined to eliminate the "white slave" traffic from the United States if possible. On his recent trip through the northwestern and Pacific states, Secretary Straus's attention was directed to the increasing importation of women for immoral purposes. The Japanese and Korean Exclusion League informed him that the "white slave" women were brought to America purposely and held in practical slavery after their arrival here. It was stated that women were sold by importers precisely as if they were so many hales of goods. Secretary Straus ordered a rigid investigation, and if it was discovered that the "white slave" traffic was far more widespread than had been suspected, involving the importation into America not only of Japanese women, but women of France, Austria, Russia and Italy. It is proposed to have a careful inquiry instituted in all the large cities. Practically a round-up of all alien immoral women will be made. Those who have not been in the country three years and are found to have been brought here illegally will be arrested and deported. Before they are returned to their native lands, however, they will be required to furnish evidence against those responsible for the traffic. It is proposed to make examples of such women by securing convictions if possible and sending them to prison.

Regina Waterworks

Regina, Oct. 4.—J. W. Smith, C. E., of Regina, and Fred W. Lea, C. E., of Montreal, have been asked by the city to make a report on a waterworks storage system. The council expects to expend $200,000 next year on this connection, and wishes to secure expert advice.

HEARTY GREETING FROM PRESIDENT

Great Assemblage at Memphis
—Mr. Roosevelt's Characteristic Address

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 4.—With bands playing, children singing and enthusiastic men shouting the slogan of deep waterways, Memphis threw wide her gates this afternoon to President Roosevelt, his escort of governors and many other distinguished personages of the Mississippi valley.

The president arrived on the United States steamer Mississippi shortly after 1 o'clock. The bluffs overlooking the river were packed with spectators, who gave the chief executive a warm welcome. As the steamer moored the whistles of all craft in the harbor were sounded.

Immediately following the steamer Mississippi was the steamer Alton, carrying the visiting governors and other notables. When all had landed the president was conducted to a carriage by Governor Patterson of Tennessee and Mayor Malone of Memphis, and an imposing parade was begun. The president was continuously cheered throughout the march. The city was a waving mass of color, not only along the line of parade, but on many other streets as well. When the president's carriage turned into Main street, he was saluted by a regiment of Confederate veterans, who from that point acted as a bodyguard. The president rose and warmly greeted the grizzled warriors.

Despite a lively downpour of rain, which lasted until noon, the streets were jammed with citizens. Passing north on Second street, 200 school children were seated on a decorated arch and sang patriotic airs as the president passed. The president rose in his carriage and bowed repeatedly to the little ones.

Arriving at the auditorium rink, where the deep waterways convention is being held, President Roosevelt alighted, and after chatting with several friends ascended the platform. The huge structure filled up rapidly, and when Governor Patterson arose to present the president an immense assemblage greeted him.

President Roosevelt departed from his printed speech in several instances. The Confederate guard of honor, he said, was a touching sight, and especially those old Confederate soldiers who carried the flag of the Union. If any one wanted to know how they would fight for that flag, let him ask the boys in blue how they fought against it. He said, with emphasis, that he was as much the president of the South as of the North. He said he was half a southerner, and when he told of two or three of his uncles having worn the grey he was tremendously applauded.

Speaking of a deep water channel from the gulf to the lakes, the president said he preferred rapid improvement of the Mississippi river. "Like Davy Crockett, the great Tennessean," he said, "I favor the motto, 'be sure you are right and then go ahead,' and this deep water problem is almost up to the 'go ahead' stage, but we want to be sure about it."

The Panama Canal, he said, was getting on well, and "the reason it is getting on so well is because we do not allow ourselves to go half-cocked. I received a telegram yesterday giving the excavations in the canal work for September, and although it had not hoped that the record for August could be exceeded, I am now told that September exceeded the preceding month by 200,000 cubic feet."

"When the canal has been completed," he said, "this nation would ask other governments to kindly not bother about the canal, that we would protect it."

"We must have a large and highly efficient navy to patrol our coast, not only on the Atlantic, but on the Pacific," he said.

He urged the people to disregard party lines in all purely national matters.

Discussing the corporations, the president said his experience in the past few years had brought him to the point of feeling sincere sympathy for certain gentlemen who are cast into a frenzy by the most commonsense remarks. It had come to the point where to declare that honesty was the best policy was liable to lead to a run on the banks.

"I will use my utmost power to stamp out murderous and lawless anarchy," he said. "I will no more stay my hand because a wrangler parades as a labor leader, than when he masquerades as a fountain of industry. I have heretofore expressed myself on the subject of undesirable citizens, and I stand by what I have said, alike when he is a great capitalist who wins a fortune by chicanery and wrongdoing, and when he is a man who under the guise of standing up for labor preaches violence and murder."

When the president closed his address he was driven rapidly to his train at the Missouri Pacific railroad station, and departed at 5 o'clock for Lake Providence, La., for a hunting trip.

C. P. R. Telegraphers

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—Word was received by the labor department today that a compromise had been reached between the Canadian Pacific Railway and its telegraphers. Particulars, however are not obtainable.

Hindus Mobbed

Spokane, Oct. 4.—At Danville, Wash., last night an angry mob drove a small party of Hindus across the line into Canada, sending a shower of missiles after them. A few shots were discharged at the trespassers, but none were injured. The Hindus had found shelter in a cabin at Danville following their escape from Canada.

Indian Murderer's Suicide

West Selkirk, Man., Oct. 4.—A report reached Selkirk last night that the nephew of the old chief of the Fiddler Indians, who, with his uncle was charged with being a stranger and a murderer of his own relatives during the performance of the awful rites of the Wengato at Red Deer lake, Kootenai, escaped from the police some time during the week and fled into the bush. He was repeatedly fired on by the jailer, but got away, and next morning his body was discovered dead, hanging by his belt to a tree.

TICKLES CALGARY EARS

Rudyard Kipling Has High Praise for Prairie City

Calgary, Oct. 4.—Rudyard Kipling arrived in Calgary yesterday morning, and after spending a couple of hours he continued his journey to the west. Mr. Kipling, accompanied by Mrs. Kipling, was taken in a trip around the city in an automobile and was greatly pleased with the things he saw. He refused to be interviewed, but made a few brief remarks, stating that he was greatly impressed with the changes Calgary had undergone since his last visit fifteen years ago. What impressed him particularly was the solidity of the buildings in Calgary as compared with other cities in the West, where the structures were nearly all of wood. He was greatly impressed with Calgary. When looking at the magnificent panorama from the hill north of the city he said: "This is the wonder city of Canada." Later on while driving up Stephen avenue, he said: "Of all the cities I have seen in the West, this beats them all."

SENATOR PLATT'S CASE

Flatly Denies Allegations Made by Mae C. Wood

New York, Oct. 4.—U. S. Senator Platt made a formal denial that he ever married Mae C. Wood, who is suing him for divorce. The Senator made this denial in an application in court today by his attorneys, asking for authority to examine certain papers in the case. He asserts that she had never made a claim to him of such a marriage until December 24, 1906, but on the contrary, tried to extort money from him. More than three years after the time at which she asserts she was married to him, the senator averred, she was threatening to sue him for breach of promise and retained O'Flaherty and Pullon, of Richmond, Va., to act for her. The senator submitted a copy of a letter from Platt, written to him in January, 1905, in which he announced that Miss Wood had employed them to prosecute her claim for damages for breach of promise and for alleged conspiracy, culminating in New York in 1903, by which she asserted she was fraudulently compelled by agents of the senator to surrender certain letters written to her by him.

Senator Platt said he ignored this letter, but his attorneys received other letters from O'Flaherty and Pullon threatening to take the case into court unless settled. When he declined, they said the senator, "discontinued" attempts at extortion until just prior to the beginning of the action."

In the fall of 1906, the senator asserted, Mae C. Wood brought two suits against him in Omaha, in which the allegations were absolutely inconsistent with her present claims of marriage. These suits, he said, were brought to gain notoriety and extort money from him. Both suits were dismissed without prejudice. The senator alluded to the publications of what purported to be a marriage certificate, which, he said, had been mutilated by cutting away the part that should have contained the name of the man who officiated. On the evening of December 24, 1906, he said, he received a letter from Miss Wood, in which she stated that she had received a letter from him acknowledging her as his wife. This he said was untrue, and no such acknowledgment had ever been made. The senator said, it is a forgery, manufactured by plaintiff to extort money from him.

COAL FOR BELLIGERENTS

British Proposal For 24-Hour Limit Is Defeated in Committee

The Hague, Oct. 4.—One of the most animated discussions of the conference, lasting over three hours, occurred today at a session of the committee on maritime warfare, regarding the time belligerent warships should be allowed to remain in a neutral port. The British delegation insisted that such warships be allowed to remain only 24 hours, even if this was not sufficient for them to take coal necessary to reach the next port of their nationality, but a Russian amendment allowing them to remain more than 24 hours when necessary to complete coaling was approved by 11 to 8 votes. There were many abstentions from voting, including the United States. Germany supported the Russian proposition. The whole project was finally approved, with minor changes.

Favors Prohibition

St. John, N.B., Oct. 4.—The Presbyterian synod has voted solid for prohibition, and in a strong resolution roundly condemns the liquor system and the Socialists who wholly neglect to grapple with the evil of the liquor traffic.

Prosecuting Railways

Jefferson City, Oct. 4.—Attorney-General Hadley announced today that he will next Tuesday, when the supreme court meets, file a motion for judgment by default against the Missouri Pacific, Wabash and Iron Mountain railways, the Pacific Express, the Great Northern, the Great Northern Refrigerator company, for failure to answer the quo warranto proceedings brought by him to dissolve the joint ownership of these properties. Last July the supreme court made an order giving the Gould lines until Sept. 1 to answer the attorney-general, but the lines later extended the time to September 22, but up to date no answer has been made.

Japan Emperor's Mother

Tokio, Oct. 4.—It was reported this morning that the real mother of the Emperor of Japan, named Nakayama, who has held the highest rank at the royal court, was seriously ill. It is believed, however, that she died earlier. The emperor is officially supposed to be the son of the deceased Empress Asako, but the son of Nakayama was adopted as heir to the throne by the late Emperor Komatsu, who died in 1867. Empress Asako died in 1897.

HOTEL PROJECT CHECKED

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—The chances are now against Ottawa getting a new million dollar hotel in Major's Hill park, where the government sold the G. T. R. site. Last night the civic finance committee refused to grant a fixed assessment on this property, and the hotel project appears to be "all off." They, however, fixed the assessment for the proposed new railway station. The suggestion is being made that the corner stone be laid on Oct. 26, as that date is still the birthday of the hotel project. The suggestion is being made that the hotel project is essential to the city, and a two-thirds vote is essential to it by no means certain the committee's report will be rejected.

PROPERTY OWNERS ARE WON OVER

Government Street Ratepayers Accept City's Ideas on Pavement

As a result of the meeting between the city council and a small number of the property owners along Government street, held last night it looks as if the objections of the latter to the proposed new pavement on that thoroughfare will be settled, and the new pavement laid, as suggested by the city. There were only seven of the property owners, or representatives of the owners, present at the meeting, and after the whole matter had been thoroughly canvassed it was decided to appoint a committee consisting of Ald. Henderson, for the city, and Messrs. Forman and Shannons, for the property owners, to interview the balance of the property owners on Government street, and submit the proposal of the city as accepted by those owners present at the meeting.

A letter was read, signed by Messrs. Holland, Pemberton, Musgrave, Langley and Wilson, protesting against the going ahead with the proposed new pavement, and claiming that the recent petition to the effect that the work of repaving should be carried out by the city as a work of ordinary repair and maintenance, and should be financed by the city should be accepted and that the property owners should not be called upon to contribute to the cost, they already being assessed for the present pavement.

Ald. Henderson submitted the plan as proposed to make the pavement. He took it that objection raised by the property owners along Government street was not so much a question of expense as one of principle; that the council was bound to maintain the present pavement in good repair for the period of the present assessment, which has five years to run. That was a legal question on which he was not prepared to pass. He thought that if it were attempted to make the present pavement last the full term it would prove an impossibility. There were two alternatives, the council thought, one for a 10 years' assessment and one for 15 years. Both were outlined by Ald. Henderson, but after a discussion of the matter the 10 years' plan was accepted by the property owners present. Briefly, it means that the city will pay one-half of the total cost—about $14,000—in the first five years, the remaining five years of the present assessment for the present pavement, intersections of streets included, and the property owners pay the remaining five years. Figured out, it means that after the first five years, under the 10 year plan of assessment, the property owners, who now pay at the rate of 73 cents a front foot, will not be called upon to pay anything additional for the next five years. After that will pay their share of the cost in the succeeding five years, the city will finance the cost for the first five years.

Ald. Henderson hoped that the Government street property owners did not expect the city to keep that street in repair for all time to come, and that they expected to have to pay on the original assessment and no other expense. His idea of what the property owners wanted was not to have the original assessment until the present pavement had been completed. There was only one member of the property owners who made any strenuous objection to the city's proposal, that was Mr. M. Young, proprietor of the New England restaurant. He declared that it was up to the city to keep the pavement in repair, that the property owners were entitled to have a proper pavement for the full ten years of the present assessment and that the all repairs made should be those of ordinary repair and maintenance, the cost to be borne by the city. Some parts of the present pavement were quite good and the balance could be repaired. He objected to having the city force a new pavement upon the property owners when the latter did not want it.

Mayor Morley suggested that the patching of the present pavement would cost more than the laying of a totally new pavement and the city engineer agreed with that view.

Some of the property owners present suggested that the proposed pavement would not last ten years. The present pavement was supposed to last that time but it had not done so.

Alderman Henderson, showed that the present pavement was much of an experiment, that the blocks had not been treated properly and that it was practically certain that with the creosote treatment the new pavement would last the prescribed time. The city has now a creosoting plant which will treat the blocks in the most up-to-date manner and the chances of getting poor wood in the blocks was reduced to a minimum. He cited Fort street, which has been down for ten years, and other streets to show that the pavement properly laid will outlast the prescribed term.

The discussion as to the proper kind of block was illustrated by the engineer who produced several kinds of blocks, treated and otherwise.

The members of the property owners present claimed that they had not fully understood the proposition of the city, that with the plan as proposed they were fully able to agree and, as A. E. Anderson declared, they were not willing to stand for a patched affair.

The committee appointed to interview the other property owners will meet in a few days.

SASKATCHEWAN CROPS

Reports Show Satisfactory Yield in Some Districts

Regina, Oct. 4.—Crops returns are coming into the department of agriculture in increasing numbers, those from the Moose Jaw district being especially good, the returns from there showing an average of twenty to thirty bushels to the acre of No. 1 northern. Good reports are also being received from the district along the Soo line. Reports from Indian Head district are somewhat unfavorable. The department this morning received a telegram from Weyburn requesting that 100 men be immediately dispatched to that district for threshing purposes. The minister of agriculture denies the report that the Government has bought seed grain would have to be brought in from Manitoba to Saskatchewan. He says Saskatchewan will have abundance of the best of seed grain.

CONCERT IN AID OF SEAMEN'S INSTITUTE

Enjoyable Entertainment Was Given in the Workmen Hall Last Evening

A concert in aid of the Victoria Seamen's institute was held last evening in the A. O. U. W. hall. The success of the entertainment was largely due to the efforts of Miss Ehart, who was in charge of the arrangements. The program was rendered by Miss Muriel Hall, Mrs. Gregson, Mrs. W. A. Gleason, Mr. Arthur Gore, Mr. William Bryce, delighted everyone, Miss Hall's playing on the piano and Mr. Bryce's on the violin, taking particularly well. Both have promise of a great future in musical work. The following is the programme:
1.—"If I Were a Bird," by Henselt, Miss Hall.
2.—"Gallant Salamander," by Barnard, Mr. Gore.
3.—Reading, "Mrs. Casey," Mrs. Gleason.
4.—"Flower Song," by Lange, Mr. Bryce.
5.—"The Butterfly," by Lavallee, Miss Hall.
6.—"Dandolero," by Leslie Stuart, Mr. Gore.
7.—"Berceuse," by Jocelyn, Mr. Bryce.
8.—(a) "Cradle Song," by Dannah, Mrs. Gregson; (b) "I Love the Merry Sunshine," by Steven Glover, Mrs. Gregson.

Death of Agent Burke

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—A cable this morning to the trade and commerce department announces the death of G. E. Burke, Canadian commercial agent in Jamaica. The news was a surprise to the department, because a letter was received from Mr. Burke yesterday under date of New York, Oct. 2, whither he had come for a change and in the hope of benefiting his nervous system, which suffered a severe shock in the Kingston earthquake last January.

Prominent Men in Calgary.

Calgary, Oct. 4.—This city has three distinguished visitors today. Rudyard Kipling arrived this morning and was taken out to see the C.P.R. irrigation ditch, the Mecca of all visitors. R. L. Borden, the Conservative leader, arrived for the meeting tonight. He addressed one of the last meetings of his tour at Medicine Hat last night. He spent the morning at the Alberta hotel resting. Senator Cox is also here on his return from the coast. He is looking into the Bank of Commerce business here, and into conditions generally.

Want More Journalists

Toronto, Oct. 4.—A deputation consisting of J. E. Leonard, M. P. for Laval, Que., A. C. Macdonnell, M. P. for Toronto, and other waited on Premier Whitney and Hon. Frank Cochrane this morning and submitted a proposition to interest French, German and Belgian capital in Ontario mines by a visit of journalists from the countries named, citing as precedent the recent visits of British journalists. The ministers were sympathetic to the idea, but declared it was too late now to do anything this year. The proposition would be seriously considered in the spring.

From Her Mother's Lover.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 4.—Miss Katherine Rittenhouse, formerly a student of the Nebraska state university, now studying at the Northwestern university in Chicago, has fallen heir to an estate worth $20,000 by the will of Colonel Isaac Wing, who was rejected by her mother when a girl. Col. Wing never married, and he stated in his will that his undying love for the mother led him to enrich the daughter, whom he had never seen.

CHILDREN'S BALL IS A PRONOUNCED SUCCESS

Most Enjoyable Function is Held in Aid of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society

The children's dance at the A. O. U. W. hall last evening, in aid of the funds of the Anti-Tuberculosis society, proved highly enjoyable. The floor was strictly reserved for the younger generation until the clock struck 11, when the adults present were permitted to indulge the terpsichorean mood. And they enjoyed it. Music was rendered by Miss Thain's orchestra, and a number of special selections were given, one twostep especially, "Honeyboy," eliciting numerous encores.

The arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Galletly, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Simon and Max. Leiser, Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Bullen, and reflected great credit upon those who gave their time and attention to the affair.

The floor committee, which strictly enforced the rule which conserved the floor for the little ones' use until 11 o'clock, consisted of J. Arbuckle, D. Bullen, Mr. Middleton, Mr. McDougall, Mr. McCurdy and Mr. Rowcroft.

The tables were decorated in scarlet and white daisies.

Among those present were: Mrs. Stuart Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Galletly, Mrs. Bullen, Miss Ethel Brown, Mr. J. Arbuckle, Mr. Bagshaw, Mr. F. White, O. Dorman, Mr. Martin, H. Green, E. Townsley Watson, Miss McDougall, Mrs. Peters, Miss Peters, Master Elworthy, N. Gowen, Miss Ada Schwengers, Miss Inglehart, Miss E. Gibson, P. Robson, D. Ellis, Miss Irene Nason, M. McIntyre, Messrs. SCION OF FOURTH GEORGE

Memory of Mrs. Fitz Herbert,
His Morganatic Wife, is Cleared at Last

It is unlikely that those of the older residents of Victoria who knew Wentworth Wood, who left this city for Kamloops some fifteen years or more ago, had any idea that that quiet unassuming individual's presence in this world was due to a hundred year old scandal which once threatened to plunge England into civil strife and even to menace the throne. But these ancient stories are recalled by facts which have recently come to light and the pedigree of Mr. Wood, facts which no less a personage than King Edward VII. interested himself to secure.

Wentworth Wood, who, when in Victoria lived in a house situated on the triangular plot of ground formed by Simcoe, Toronto and Menzies streets, and was known among a not very extensive circle of acquaintance as a representative of an eastern shoe manufacturing firm, is it appears a descendant of royalty, and according to private advices received in this city, was not long ago summoned to England to receive the share of the patrimony bequeathed to his ancestors and her descendants by George IV., his great grandfather.

The history of this unexpected legacy to Mr. Wood, who it is believed was quite unaware of his semi-royal origin, is the history of the private life and public scandals of the prince regent, afterwards George IV., of his notorious consort Queen Caroline, and of his morganatic wife Mrs. FitzHerbert, a woman to whom history is only now beginning to do justice.

Students of English court history of the end of the eighteenth and the beginning of the nineteenth centuries, will remember somewhat of Mrs. FitzHerbert, the lady whom some at the time called the prince's wife, and who reaped the reward of her devotion in neglect and suffering. This lady was the ancestress of Wentworth Wood. Upon her death her papers were all collected and placed in a sealed trunk which for state reasons was never opened until comparatively recently, when King Edward caused it to be examined. These papers proved conclusively that Mrs. FitzHerbert was the morganatic wife of the prince regent, afterwards George IV., and his present majesty caused a tardy justice to be done to her descendants by directing that the private property of her husband be divided among the heirs, of whom Mr. Wood is one. The extent of this property is not exactly known, but it is unquestionably very valuable, including as it does the famous "Pavilion" at Brighton built by the prince, assisted by Beau Brummel, as well as other valuable assets. The Pavilion is well known to all who have visited the famous watering place in Sussex, and many were the high jinks played therein by the royal rake and his boon companions. Today it is more respectable, but the Brightonians have many legends about it which are borne out by the curious entrances and staircases in unexpected places and other circumstantial evidence.

Mrs. FitzHerbert was married to the prince several years before his ill-starred marriage to Caroline of Brunswick, but the marriage was kept a close secret, and many refused to believe that any ceremony had taken place. Royalty must wed royalty, and Mrs. FitzHerbert was a commoner, and chief of all, a Roman Catholic. It is difficult in these tolerant days to realize the popular prejudice that prevailed a little over a hundred years ago against anything that even remotely savoured of Roman Catholicism. This was the days when members of that communion were barred from all the offices of state, even from the army, and when religious leanings followed, or were supposed to follow, party cleavages and embittered political strife.

Mrs. FitzHerbert's influence with the prince was all for good and she seemed to be the only person who could sway him. His family recognized this, and encouraged the intimacy to the extent of their power. Then came the marriage with Princess Caroline of Brunswick, who, now that the smoke of party strife has cleared away, has been pronounced by history to be the worst possible wife married to the worst possible husband. Not only loose in her morals, she was uncaring in her person while her dresses were too decollete even for the English courts of that day. It is related that Lord Malmesbury, who went to escort her to England, was forced to lecture her before starting on her dress and deportment, warning her that they would not be tolerated in England. When she arrived an incident none too creditable, but characteristic of her husband to be, occurred. The princess on being presented dropped on one knee as etiquette demands. Equally punctilious the prince immediately raised her, kissing her as he did so. Whereupon he turned to Lord Malmesbury and in an audible aside remarked:

"For — sake, Malmesbury, get me a drink of brandy!"

The marriage resulted as might have been expected. They lived together for a few months and then separated. As between the two there does not appear to have been much to choose, though at the time the queen was the people's idol, and they refused to hear aught against her. Then the prince wished to return to Mrs. FitzHerbert, who had been living quietly in retirement. She was devoted to her worthless husband, and up to the last refused to believe that he actually would marry the princess, and when Lord Malmesbury, deputed to break the news, swore he had witnessed the ceremony the unfortunate woman fainted.

Upon the prince wishing to live with her again, Mrs. FitzHerbert, as the recent discoveries show, consulted her spiritual advisers, who told her that she was the prince's real wife in the eyes of the church, notwithstanding his second marriage valid under the laws of England. She lived with him for several years, which she has described as the most happy of her life, but after awhile the companionship of a pure woman palled upon the prince, who sought other diversions. His last favorite, Lady Conyngham, was the worst of all. She went so far as to remove two wagon loads of plate and jewels from Windsor castle while the king lay dying.

After the second separation Mrs. FitzHerbert saw her royal husband no more. Once when he was very ill she wrote to him, but though much affected, the prince made no effort to see her. It remained for death to bring her triumph. When George IV. was dead and lay in state the Duke of Wellington visited the corpse. Moved by a curiosity, for which the iron Duke blushed when he narrated the tale, he stooped and made an examination. Depending from the ribbon was a locket containing a miniature of Mrs. FitzHerbert, placed there by the king's last instructions.

Such was Mrs. FitzHerbert, whose detractors are now silenced. There had been so much storm and strife around her name that on her death all letters and papers were collected, and by royal command placed unread in a sealed trunk. There they lay till not long ago King Edward caused the trunk to be opened and its contents examined. The documents showed that Mrs. FitzHerbert had been the prince's wife, married according to the rites of the Roman Catholic church, and then in tardy justice the king ordered that her heirs be hunted up and the separate property of their royal ancestor divided amongst them. Thus came Wentworth Wood, while a manufacturer's agent in Victoria, into his inheritance.

The fate of her great rival, Princess Caroline, is the political history of her time. Her partisans refused to believe in her escapades and all England was divided into camps, till, according to Macaulay, the throne itself was threatened. They lived on for years till the queen's conduct, who had been traveling about Europe with an Italian courier, became so notorious that the famous divorce suit before the house of lords was begun. The princess was defended by Brougham, afterwards lord chancellor, who attained the zenith of his fame as an advocate in that cause celebrated, though her guilt is now admitted to have been most clearly proved, the pressure of public opinion was so great that the suit failed. The evidence adduced had its weight, however, for after the trial she lost and never regained her popularity. She tried to enter Westminster Abbey to take her place beside the king when he was being crowned, but was met with the stern answer:

"I have no orders to admit you, madam."

To her great disappointment, there was no voice raised in protest, and so far as the English people were concerned that was the end of Queen Caroline, but Mrs. FitzHerbert, faithful wife and mother, is at last coming into her own.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The New Grand.

Children who have been going to school all week will have a chance to see the fine bill at the New Grand this afternoon, Manager Jamieson having fixed the Saturday matinee price of 10 cents for the little ones for that purpose. Included in the list of good things are Harry First and Co. in "The Marriage Fee"; the Great Ernests, comedy acrobats; the Mascagnis, whirlwind and fancy dancers; Sidney Forrester, English comedian and coster singer; Cara Thomas, singing southerner; Ernest L. Shaw, illustrated song and a splendid set of moving pictures of a caribou hunt in the British Columbia mountains.

Pantages Theatre.

The usual matinee takes place this afternoon at the Johnson street theatre when 10c admits old and young, and offers an opportunity to witness an entertainment that has been pleasing large crowds during the week. La Velle and Grant, the great exponents of physical culture and high class acrobats, who are without doubt the greatest in this particular line on the American stage, and those who have not yet seen this act should do so either at the matinee or night performance, as they are truly wonderful.

Time, Place, Girl.

The attraction at the Victoria theatre on Monday evening is "The Time, the Place and the Girl," whose recent success at the La Salle theatre, Chicago, will be sufficient introduction to the people of Victoria and on which the Chicago critics have stamped that long-looked for phrase, "A Real Success." The skill of John E. Young as a comedian has never before been portrayed to such great advantage as in the character of "Happy" Johnny Hick, a square-jawed lumberer with a fund of sound philosophy which he expresses in epigrammatic slang. "The Time, the Place and the Girl" is not a musical comedy, but pretty songs make it doubly attractive. There are a dozen musical numbers in the play, but they are all fitting and descriptive and never in the way of the plot development. Some of the song hits are "Blow the Smoke Away," "The Waning Honeymoon," "Don't You Tell" and "Thursday Is My Jonah Day."

A beauty chorus of fifty, which, under the able direction of Ned Wayburn, assists in the rendition of the scores.

"The Mayor of Tokio."

The attraction coming to the Victoria theatre on Tuesday evening next is the much talked of Richard Carle's fantastically titled "The Mayor of Tokio," a square-jawed lumberer with a fund of sound philosophy which he expresses in epigrammatic slang. "The Time, the Place and the Girl" is not a musical comedy, but pretty songs make it doubly attractive. There are a dozen musical numbers in the play, but they are all fitting and descriptive and never in the way of the plot development. Some of the song hits are "Blow the Smoke Away," "The Waning Honeymoon," "Don't You Tell" and "Thursday Is My Jonah Day."

A Remarkable Record.

To the versatile Lady Tweedmouth has fallen the unusual but happy experience of living to see not only her first-born a cabinet minister, but also her daughter and daughter's daughter the wives of important members of the same administration. Surely a unique record! These ladies are the Countess of Aberdeen, wife of the Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, and Lady Marjorie Sinclair, whose husband is the popular Scottish Secretary. Another daughter of Lady Tweedmouth was Lady White Ridley, wife of a former Home Secretary whose premature death some years ago occasioned great regret. Lord Tweedmouth's only son, Captain the Hon. Dudley Marjoribanks, has been for the past two years Military Secretary to the Earl of Selborne.

A STEP FORWARD.

The action of the Provincial Liberal Association in declaring that the Dominion Government ought to provide rail connection between Vancouver Island and the Mainland is, needless to say, very satisfactory to the Colonist. While that project is, and ought to remain, a non-political one, it is right that the political parties should express their opinions upon it. We noted with satisfaction Mr. Templeman's unequivocal promise in the same connection made in his A.O.U.W. hall speech, and it is highly satisfactory to see that his position in this regard has been fully endorsed by his party, which seems, indeed, to have gone further than he did, which is perhaps proper enough, for a minister is under certain restrictions in speaking about matters of that nature. We find special satisfaction in the passage of this resolution, because it was concurred in by representative men from all parts of the province, and is the first time this project has received general endorsement from British Columbia as a whole.

We direct attention to the fact that the convention has placed the burden of responsibility upon the Dominion Government. This is not exactly the view, which some of our Liberal friends in Victoria have taken. They thought that the first duty rested upon the Provincial Government, and that seemed to be the only point in issue between them and the Colonists. The convention seems to have taken the case stands now is that the Royal Commission on Transportation has strongly recommended such a connection. Mr. Templeman, our representative, in the Cabinet, has declared himself in favor of steps being taken in that direction and his belief that they soon will be, and the Liberal Convention for the province has announced itself emphatically in favor of federal action. This is certainly a very promising state of things, and we feel confident that the Provincial Government will in due course be heard from to the same favorable effect.

We do not wish to assume the role of prophet, and so will only say that we will be greatly disappointed if before this day twelvemonth the establishment of the proposed connection will not be assured and the preliminary work be under way.

IMPERIAL RELATIONS

A good many people seem inclined to discuss public questions as though not only they, but all other Canadians, could afford to disregard utterly the fact that Canada is a part of the British Empire. None of such people object to the Dominion remaining in the Empire, because they know as well as any one else that it is the Imperial connection which enables us to continue our existence as a self-governing country. If there should be a change, and Canada should become independent, these people would find themselves confronted with a new set of problems, which would teach them wisdom, perhaps. It is an unfortunate thing, no doubt, but as the world is constituted the final recourse for the settlement of international questions is force, and Canadians ought to know that, unaided, they would be unable to resist the nations, which are at all likely to be our enemies. How many such nations there are we shall not undertake to say, but we have open questions with the United States and Japan. How long could Canada, if left to her own resources, hold out in a war with either of these powers? We are not going to express any opinion on that point, but will content ourselves with saying that our situation, in such an event, would be vastly weaker than it now is, when we have behind us the prestige of the British name and the power of the British navy and army. How large a share of the freedom we enjoy, that is our right as Canadians to govern Canada just as we see fit, is due to the fact that the Dominion forms a part of the British Empire, every reader can judge for himself.

In view of these considerations we submit to the people of British Columbia that it is exceedingly unfair and unmanly to expect the British government to be always ready to come to our defence notwithstanding any disregard of Imperial interests. We must either be in the Empire or be out of it. We cannot hide behind the British flag and assume the role of people, who are prepared to fight our own battles unaided. The Colonist would be the last to support the idea that Canadians ought to approach the consideration of questions affecting them in a pusillanimous spirit, but we would not have them forget that we must depend upon the Empire for the enforcement of our views, when these are antagonistic to those of foreign countries. We do not believe in taking a position on any question, which we would not feel justified in taking if we knew it would bring a hostile fleet before our coasts, if it were not that such a fleet would have the British navy to reckon with. We can obtain what we want without playing the role of swashbucklers in international politics.

THE BOWSER BILL

The Liberal convention has delivered itself of some opinions in regard to Mr. McBride's duty in view of the fact that Lieutenant-Governor Dunsmuir withheld his assent from the Bowser bill, without his advice. The resolution takes up about four inches of such type as this article is printed in, but what it amounts to is that Mr. McBride ought to resign. It was hardly necessary for the convention to pass a resolution to establish the fact that Mr. McBride's resignation would be exceedingly acceptable to it. We think that would have been taken for granted. But the duty of Mr. McBride to resign under the circumstances is not quite so evident. In fact, it is not evident at all. If the Lieutenant-Governor had withheld his assent absolutely from a measure passed by the legislature, and had done so contrary to the advice of the Premier, it would have then been the duty of the Premier to consider if the case was one that called for his resignation. He would not be bound to resign necessarily, for he might deem it advisable to accept the responsibility for the Lieutenant-Governor's act, and justify it to the legislature, for it might well be that the judgment of a Lieutenant-governor might on consideration appear preferable to that which the Premier had up to that time held. But this was not the case in regard to the Bowser bill. This bill was passed with full knowledge on the part of the legislature that the Ottawa government would not permit it to come into operation. Every member of the legislature knew that if the Lieutenant-Governor assented to it, the Governor-General, by the advice of his ministry, would disallow it. The Lieutenant-Governor knew this also, and knowing it he exercised his undoubted right to reserve it for the action of the Governor-General. The Governor-General might, at any day since the close of the legislature, have brought the bill into force. We may be able to surmise why the Lieutenant-Governor took this course, but it would be unfair to him to do so. Doubtless his explanation is in the hands of the federal ministry, and when parliament meets next month, it can be brought down if anyone asks for it. Until then we do not propose to discuss the Lieutenant-Governor's action.

The Liberal convention says that Mr. McBride violated the "first principle" of the constitution by not resigning. The convention had to say something, we assume, and it might as well say this as anything else. But it is nonsense just the same. The resolution was passed without a full knowledge of the facts, because the Lieutenant-Governor's explanation was not before the convention. But just see how this alleged "first principle" would work out. A Liberal government is in power at Ottawa and appoints a Lieutenant-governor. In the province to which he is appointed there is a Conservative government in power. The federal ministry wants to precipitate a general election in that province. It, therefore, directs the Lieutenant-governor to reserve his assent to a bill. Forthwith, according to this alleged "first principle," the Conservative premier must resign, and a Liberal take his place. Of course, nothing of the kind has happened in connection with the Bowser bill, but the way to test the correctness of an alleged principle is to try it out in some other case than that in which it has been invoked.

B. C. AGRICULTURE

The address by which Captain Tatlow opened the New Westminster exhibition, like all that gentleman's public utterances, contained food for thought. The particular point to which we wish to direct attention is his statement that the value of the agricultural products of British Columbia is in excess of $7,000,000 and that nearly an equal amount of money was sent out of the province during the year for farm products, which we could raise at home. This indicates a consumption of approximately $60 worth of farm products per capita, and seeing that this includes not only what is used for human consumption but also what is fed to live stock, we do not think the estimate is over the mark. On the contrary we should be disposed to think it too low. But one thing about it is very certain. It shows what a field there is in this province for the expansion of agriculture. The population of the province is steadily increasing, and we doubt if the produce of the farms is more than keeping pace with it, even if it is doing that. Therefore if agriculture expands at as rapid a rate as is practicable there is no fear of overstocking the market.

Take one item. Capt. Tatlow draws attention to the fact that we send away $2,000,000 a year to pay for butter. There is in the city today, or shortly to arrive, a large consignment of Australian butter. Yet there is no part of the world where better butter can be produced and be produced more profitably than in British Columbia, wherever it has been tried, and the trials have been quite numerous, the system of creamery butter-making has been a great success. It might be increased just as rapidly as the number of cows to supply the cream could be increased. As a matter of fact, it would be a practical impossibility, no matter what efforts were made, to supply the home demand for first class butter. The leeway is so great that years would have to elapse before it could be made up and the growing demand be met. We are not blind to the fact that before creameries can be a success there must be a considerable number of cattle kept within a moderate radius, and this is not possible in the early stages of colonization in a country like British Columbia. At the same time, while the creamery system is the best, when it is feasible, we must not lose sight of the fact that domestic dairying, when properly carried on, is very profitable. Most people prefer creamery butter, because the quality is uniform, but good dairy butter is just as saleable, although it may be necessary in most cases for the maker to establish a reputation for his product. The great point is that there is not nearly enough butter made in the province, although we have what is one of the best dairying countries in the world.

Another Memorandum.

Also paste this in your hat:

Hon. William Templeman in a speech at the Lamson Street School House: "Better Terms is as dead as Julius Caesar."

Hon. William Templeman at A. O. U. W. Hall, September 18, 1907, see report of speech, Victoria Daily Times, page 3, col. 4:

"With respect to the final settlement he believed the conclusion arrived at was fair and equitable."

We congratulate the Provincial Liberal Convention on its full accord with the position taken on this question, in the language quoted above, with the views of Premier McBride and his cabinet, the Conservative party of British Columbia and last but not least the Colonist.

The Westminster fair seems to have been "the greatest that has been." But what else ought to be expected in a city situated in one of the finest agricultural districts in the world?

The Times tells us that Mr. Templeman, among others, was shown at the Liberal convention that he has "the utter confidence of the party." If the confidence had been "uttered," the honorable gentleman would doubtless have liked it better.

Will correspondents never learn that the Colonist will not print their letters unless they are signed by proper names of the writers? We have a letter dealing with the shortage of labor. There is no conceivable reason why the writer should not sign it, but as he does not we cannot print it.

The Times recently published a statement from the Ottawa Free Press saying that Mr. McBride had advised the Lieutenant-Governor to withhold his assent from the Bowser bill. We have asked Mr. Templeman if he did not feel that he ought to disavow responsibility for the publication of this false allegation in his paper, and retract it. He has done neither one thing nor the other. The conclusion seems irresistible that Mr. Templeman is not averse to the publication in his paper of false statements calculated to injure a political opponent. We observe that the Liberal convention accepted Mr. McBride's denial of the allegation made by the Free Press.

The Liberal Convention object to Better Terms being a partisan question "in view of the strong stand taken by the Liberal opposition." This is what the Colonist has been saying all along. It said so when Mr. McBride was attacked for going to Ottawa at all. It said so when he was assailed for refusing to sell out for a mess of pottage. It said so when the Liberal opposition made an issue of the question at the general election. It said so when the Liberal members of the House voted against the resolution introduced by the government last session declining in favor of continued agitation. It said so after the words "final and unalterable" were struck out of the bill in the Imperial parliament. At all times the Colonist has deprecated the introduction of party politics into the Better Terms question. But those who have assumed to speak of the Liberal party and to control its action will otherwise.

The meeting in the City Hall on Thursday night was a public one, and the advertisement said that free discussion was invited; yet when Canon Beaudin attempted to give expression to views not shared by some of those present, he was not permitted to complete his observations. It does not seem to have occurred to those, who promoted the meeting, that a refusal to allow a free expression of opinion completely nullified the resolutions adopted so far as their effect upon the public opinion of Canada and the action of the Dominion Government is concerned. Resolutions passed after full and open discussion, in the course of which a respectful hearing is given to all views, would carry a great deal of weight with them; but an expression of opinion by a meeting, resolved to hear nothing with which its promoters did not agree, does not advance a cause by a hair's breadth. The meeting left the question of Oriental exclusion exactly where it found it, whereas any resolution adopted after a full and open debate, in which those who even go as far as to favor such immigration had been heard with patience, would have been valuable.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS

Canada and Japan

The local conditions bearing upon the treaty with Japan will require to be very carefully studied; and great weight ought to be attached to local opinion in British Columbia. It will probably be found that though racial prejudices may exist, there is something more, a belief that self-preservation demands some restriction on the flow of immigration from Asia. The country is vast, the white population is small; it looks with anxiety on the prospect of being swamped, as it could easily be, by immigration from China, from Japan, from India. It is not in the interests of any of the countries named that such an extensive immigration should be encouraged. There are vast regions of Asia as sparsely populated as the Canadian west; regions which form the natural habitat of the Chinese and Japanese people, and in which they will find their true national development. It is not race prejudice, but universal human experience, which tells us that oil and water will not mix, and that peace, unity, and brotherhood are not promoted by trying to force them to mix.—Toronto Star.

The Englishman

Nowadays that we hear so much of the desirability of a British immigration to our Canadian shores, one is naturally interested to know how the British immigrants who have already come are getting on in their new home. On their testimony, most of them are doing very well. Almost invariably Scotch and Irish among them will say that they are happy and contented and well, and are willing to wait for the full realization of the hopes that are coming to them, whatever complaint there is usually comes from the English. The new arrival who sends home a grievous letter of woes and good-sized kicks, is nearly always an Englishman.

Just why this is so—why it is the Englishman, instead of the Scotchman or Irishman who professes disappointment—is suggested by Frederick Hamilton, of Ottawa, in a recent magazine article. Mr. Hamilton thinks the trouble is that the English immigrant of this stamp comes to Canada expecting to find here a New England—a little England—a larger England—a rougher and uncultured England—another England of some sort. My conjecture is that he comes to Canada in a frame of mind utterly unlike that in which he goes to the United States, and that much of the difficulty comes from this frame of mind, and from the Canadian perception of it. And so, with expectations like these, he is disappointed when he finds that conditions here are very different from those in England. Prepared to find difficulties in the United States, which he has always looked upon as a foreign country, he is apt to expect that in a "colony" of the Empire he will be much the same as at home. His disillusionment brings disappointment.

Perhaps this explanation is correct. There seems, at any rate, to be some logic in it. But the fact is that the Englishman in Canada is that, after all, most of them are contented and prosperous. The kickers are exceptional.—Edmonton Journal.

America's Shame

Mr. W. T. Isted, who is perhaps, as well qualified as anyone to speak for the shipwrecking interests of Seattle and the greater part of the Northwest, declares that Vancouver Island is better protected against shipwreck than we are, and that the Canadian government is doing far more to prevent disaster and to save the lives of those whom inevitable disaster ensue than the United States of America. Anyone who knows anything at all about the subject knows that Mr. Isted is correct and to say that such a condition is an unspeakable outrage will seem like the recitation of platitudes of those who have been daily readers of the morning Times. The repetition of the charge that this is the truth will not come with any shock.

The fact that the Canadian government has taken notice of the many wrecks off Cape Flattery—in waters which are made dangerous by land which belongs to the United States and in waters which from their international character are jointly within the humane police jurisdiction of the United States and Canada—makes it all the more noticeable that we have done practically nothing. Mr. Isted only reiterates what this newspaper has sought to point out ever since the Valencia went down—ever since the Coloma was dismantled and would have drifted ashore had it not been for the bravery of a woman, ever since any good ship since that time has been wrecked from the coast and most dangerous coast in the civilized waters of Western America—that the United States government is criminally negligent in the protection of the Straits of Juan de Fuca.

It would seem that all the money which this government of ours has to spend upon the precautions for the saving of life is spent within sight of the dome of the great Washington congress meets. We do not pretend to deny that the sands of Jersey and the Carolinas are not dangerous. No sailing vessel can afford to go well out to stand up and say that they were not. Yet we do not say that no man who knows the Atlantic can compare their dangers in hopelessness with that of the cliffs of Vancouver Island. It is hoped that the shore of every good ship which goes wrong in its efforts to make an American harbor in Puget Sound.

It is, however, disheartening that there is so apparent a disinterestedness in the saving of life and property within the limits of a very dangerous coast, as compared with the attitude of the Dominion government in the same direction. The most dangerous portion of the coast is Canadian territory, but the ships that go ashore there are usually trying to make American ports. Our failure to do our share of a duty which humanity as well as patriotism demands is shameful.—Seattle Times.

Talks With Nature

"I think you're quite funny," I said to the river, "for when you've a bed You're awake night and day, And run on, yet you stay; And your mouth is so far from your head."

I said to the hill: "I'll allow You have a most wonderful brow, But you've got such a big foot That you never can put On a shoe of the size they use now."

I said to the tree: "You are queer; Your trunk is all pocked and scarred; You can't leave until spring When—a curious thing!— You must still remain standing right here."

To a green-red Blackberry I said: "I know you are green when you're red, And you're red when you're green, But to say what I mean Is enough to befuddle one's head." —St. Nicholas.

SOME GOOD CHAIRS

COMFORT-GIVING KINDS THAT'LL PLEASE YOU

PROBABLY, you already know the comfort of a large, roomy, low English Willow Chair, and how much superior it is as a genuine

"rester" after a busy day. In the Summer, you have a chair in which you can fully enjoy these delightful Summer evenings; in the Winter, pull it in front of the grate fire, and enjoy your magazine or book—or sleep.

If you have not experienced the luxury of one of these most comfortable chairs, ask any one who has what they think of them, or, better still, come down and try one in the showrooms.

Daintily upholstered in Liberty Cretonne or French Shadow Cloth, they make a piece of furniture that would add very much to the appearance of any room. There is no other kind of chair goes so far to making a home look cosy and comfortable as these.

LOW PRICES ARE FEATURES OF THESE

Price is the important item. To put the price down to the lowest possible notch, making it possible for all classes to enjoy the comforts of these chairs, has been our object. There was only one way—buy large quantities direct.

We purchased direct from the makers in England a big lot of these, and were fortunate in securing a very favorable freight rate on this big shipment. As a consequence we have for your inspection a showing of Reed, Rush and Pulp Cane Chairs superior to any heretofore shown, and the pricings couldn't be fairer.

WILLOW CHAIRS, in many sizes, at each, $3.50, $6.00, $6.50, $7.00, up to $14.00
RUSH CHAIRS, at each, $10.00, $9.00, $6.00, $5.00 and $3.50

Decorative Dining Room Crockery

The modern dining room with its continuous "plate shelf" affords ample opportunity for the display of odd and quaint jugs, tankards and mugs, as well as plates.

We carry an exclusive line of specially chosen articles for this purpose, made by eminent European potters.

Some of the English specimens in underglaze colors are reproductions of styles in vogue a century or more ago.

They are just as interesting for daily use. Sensible shapes.

The New Styles in Crystal Gilt Glass are Here

Cut glass has a "hated rival" this season.

It is the gold-decorated intaglio-engraved glass made in Bohemia and the demand for it amounts to a craze in America.

Genuine gold leaf is used in "backing up" the engravings. In combination with the pure crystal the effect is incomparably brilliant.

We are showing a splendid line of the new fall styles with latest engravings and invite your inspection.

The prices are moderate.

The Elastic Decorated Dinner Service

No! it isn't made of rubber. Made of clay. But it admits of extension and is therefore, figuratively speaking, elastic.

You can buy a few articles today and add to the collection tomorrow—or a month from now. Yes, any time you feel like.

First thing you know you have a service for a large gathering—same decoration.

Isn't that elasticity?

We have the choicest "elastic" patterns made. All prices.

FAIR A SUCCESS AT WESTMINSTER

Ten Thousand Paid Admittance on Tuesday—Dog Show Attracts Attention

New Westminster, Oct. 4.—One of the most interesting features of the exhibition is the display of dogs. The New Westminster Kennel club was organized just three months ago, and the present occasion is the first annual bench show. The club is to be congratulated on the success which it has attained on its initial appearance. On the class of dogs entered, the painstaking care and regard for health and comfort provided for all the animals, and on having had such a thoroughly efficient secretary as Mr. J. H. Barrett. To make the show a success that it is Mr. Barrett has practically worked day and night, and the results which he has accomplished are certainly deserving of the thanks of all entrants to the show, and of the members of the club. Almost every known variety of dog is represented. Japanese spaniels, Pomeranians, Scotch, Irish, Boston, fox, bull and Alredale terriers, bull dogs, spaniels of all sorts, cockers, springer and Irish water spaniels, pointers, English, Irish and Gordon setters, Dalmatians, collies, Great Danes and St. Bernards. Dr. Geo. W. Clayton, of Chicago, is the presiding judge and was busy all yesterday in the preliminary work of picking out the winners.

The turnstiles recorded 10,025 as passing into the fair grounds yesterday. All things considered, this is a magnificent showing and points conclusively to the evidence of the popularity with which the annual fair is growing with the people. The latter part of the week should show much larger crowds than this.

The judging in the different classes has begun and quite a lot of work was got through yesterday. In the floral display the diplomas were about evenly divided between Vancouver and Westminster people, while in division G, which includes vegetables of all kinds, the prizes were generously distributed to all over the Delta and interior points. In field produce such as wheat, barley, oats and similar products, the region about Edmonton was the most successful, though a goodly number of prizes were captured by Chilliwack, Ladner and Lulu Island exhibitors. The display in all these classes was of a very high order this year and was much admired by all. Strangers were particularly impressed with the samples shown of the agricultural resources of the province and the excellent exhibition put out on this year will undoubtedly be the means of inducing many new settlers to the country. The judges will endeavor to get through as much work as possible today and hope to have all prizes allotted by Saturday, so that everybody can give their individual attention to the great windup in the lacrosse tournament, which will occur that afternoon.

WARDEN WHYTE RESIGNS

Retires From Charge of Provincial Penitentiary After Long Service

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 4.—It is announced that Warden J. C. Whyte of the provincial penitentiary has tendered his resignation on account of ill-health. It has been known for some time that Colonel Whyte has been seriously ill, tuberculosis having made deadly inroads into his system. It has now been found that nothing but absolute rest and freedom from official cares will enable him to pull through and overcome the enemy that is threatening his life. Nothing has yet been given out as to who his successor is likely to be, but it is understood that Dominion Inspector of Penitentiaries Foster will come out and take charge for a time before any definite appointment is made.

FATALITY AT VANCOUVER

Little Willie Burgess Meets Instant Death Under Wheels of Wagon.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 4.—Little Willie Burgess, of 934 Sixth avenue, Fairview, was run over and instantly killed at about 12:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The little fellow, who was only about 12 years of age, was a pupil of the Normal school, and was riding near that building, between Ninth avenue and Bridge street, on the back of a wagon. In some way or other he lost his hold and fell to the ground, the wheel passing over his head. Fortunately death was instantaneous. He was carried into the general hospital, two young brothers of the deceased accompanying the remains. The father of the deceased runs a steamboat up the coast, and he

Splendid Reception Accorded Mr. Borden by Conservatives of Boundary

Grand Forks, Oct. 4.—R. L. Borden, leader of the Conservative party in Canada, accompanied by J. G. H. Bergeron and Dr. J. D. Reid, were met at the station on their arrival here by Ernest Miller, president of the Conservative association, and other prominent Conservatives. Shortly after the arrival of the visitors a public reception was held and at eight o'clock in the evening over 600 citizens gathered in the opera house while the city band played suitable selections.

ACTIVITY AT CARIBOO

Successful Operations Are Now in Progress on Several Very Famous Mining Properties

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 4.—The Slough Creek, Limited, directorate has under consideration two separate hydro-electric power schemes and although neither has been adopted as yet the best information is to the effect that cessation of pumping doubtless indicates that one of them will be adopted.

For several months Manager H. H. Waters has been urging the abandonment of steam and the substitution of hydro-electric power. He recommends electric pumps with a capacity of 5,000 gallons per minute, which in five times the present efficiency of the steam pumps. The power available is adequate for the company's present requirements, including lighting and although the installation of the new system will involve a large initial outlay, the difference in operating costs should effect a saving of $10 to $20 per day. Granting that the company has decided on this improvement, the decision marks a great advance, saving as it does that the magnitude of the task is realized and that its working out will now be accomplished in the best possible manner.

One of the ditch lines is being surveyed and estimates will follow as soon as practicable, but it is not probable that the directors will act in time to have ditch construction begin before the winter. The ditch is to be cut along the line of the public ditch line in winter will be as slight as possible in this climate.

CURTAILING OPERATIONS

Logging This Season Less Extensive—Mountain Lumbermen Hold Meeting at Nelson

Nelson, B. C., Oct. 4.—A meeting of the Mountain Lumbermen's association was held here yesterday. There was a general discussion as to the present situation and the view expressed was somewhat somber. No action was taken collectively or decrease in prices or as to the output of lumber. Seen after the meeting, W. A. Anstie, secretary of the association said that though it was true that no such action was taken by the association as a body, yet individual expressions made to him at and subsequent to the meeting empowered him to say that there would be no changes made in prices as it was felt that the lumbermen could not possibly sell their lumber at less than current quotations.

"It is a well known fact," said Mr. Anstie, "that the cost of producing lumber has so enormously increased during the past four or five years that manufacturers absolutely cannot afford to make any reductions. The great increase in cost of labor, machinery, horses, groceries, feed and other supplies, together with the fact that the timber of practically every mill is nearly becoming more inaccessible and therefore expensive to log, means that lumber from the mountain districts cannot decline in price."

"The financial stringency," continued the secretary, "which has caused the demand for lumber to be so slack this season and the effect of which is still so seriously felt throughout the country, is causing manufacturers to close down their mills and logging camps. Judging from the individual expression of the various members present the logging operations this fall and winter will hardly exceed more than a third of the season of 1906."

Without the Sins of War
Mr. Bodfish is quite sure that woman's certificate of capacity should not include the right to cast a vote. Mrs. Bodfish is equally certain that her sex is amply qualified to invade the councils, and share, if not actually control, the action of men.

"I won't say that we are gilded for every kind of a position," she modestly conceded, "in a recent discussion 'I'm sure I would never undertake to build bridges and things like that, I should simply get dizzy and tumble in or fall off. But there are lots and lots of real jobs that I would undertake. There's street cleaning. That is one thing a woman could boss to perfection."

"Yes," Mr. Bodfish observed, indulgently, "How would you go to work to clean up if you were street commissioner?"

"How?" repeated his wife, "why, with brooms and hoes and shovels and things instead—" she paused—"instead of just an appropriation!" she finished, triumphantly.

Senator Morgan once threw down a magazine with a sneer. "Another nature," he exclaimed, "Why, these things are as absurd as— as absurd as—" And then he laughed and said that it reminded him of an address that he once heard an absent-minded missionary make. "In China, dear friends," said the missionary, "human life is regarded as of but slight value. Indeed, if a wealthy Chinaman is condemned to death, he can easily hire another to die for him; and I believe many poor fellows get their living by thus acting as substitutes."

GREAT RALLY AT GRAND FORKS

Splendid Reception Accorded Mr. Borden by Conservatives of Boundary

Grand Forks, Oct. 4.—R. L. Borden, leader of the Conservative party in Canada, accompanied by J. G. H. Bergeron and Dr. J. D. Reid, were met at the station on their arrival here by Ernest Miller, president of the Conservative association, and other prominent Conservatives. Shortly after the arrival of the visitors a public reception was held and at eight o'clock in the evening over 600 citizens gathered in the opera house while the city band played suitable selections.

The first speaker called on was Martin Burrell, who spoke at some length, and among other things strongly advocated a general reform in the civil service. Mr. Burrell was loudly applauded.

Mr. Borden was next called amid loud applause and spoke at length. He dealt with the unfair custom of the Liberal party in having postponed elections in Canada. He also gave premier McBride great credit for the firm stand he has taken on the better terms question. He dealt in a masterly way with the Grand Trunk Pacific railway and strongly favored government ownership of railways. In dealing with the immigration problem he thought that the British Columbia people should decide the matter. In conclusion the speaker appealed for clean elections and denounced wrongful expenditures of public money by the Liberal party. Mr. Borden resumed his seat amid loud and prolonged applause.

Mr. Bergeron followed and kept his audience in roars of laughter for over an hour by relating in a vivid manner the various exposures of stealing votes and ballot box scandals by the Liberals in the eastern provinces and Saskatchewan, and he created a great sensation when he stated that in one particular instance 100 votes had been bought at $10 each. Great enthusiasm prevailed at the meeting.

THE LAURIER CABINET.

Cartwright, Paterson, Scott and Borden May Yet Go Out.

In the Ottawa correspondence of the Boston Advertiser there is a revival of reports which were current some time ago in regard to changes in the Canadian ministry. Briefly stated these reports are to the effect that notwithstanding some former reports, Mr. Sifton is disposed to re-enter the cabinet and Sir Wilfrid Laurier is anxious to take him; but that Mr. Sifton thinks there is a necessity for cabinet reconstruction and he will only come as a colleague with the retirement of Hon. Mr. Paterson, Hon. R. W. Scott, and Sir Richard Cartwright. Mr. Sifton is represented as thinking the men beyond the capacity for active campaign work in the next general election contest, and it is intimated that he will not again enter upon the discharge of the duties of a minister unless the cabinet is reformed by younger men. At first it may seem rather surprising that Mr. Sifton should be able to make claims of this kind, but if he is doing so, it is in view of the strength which he still has in the northwest—Manitoba, Alberta, Saskatchewan—where he is regarded as a leader of great force. At the next general election the west will have an increased representation; it is a rapidly growing part of the country, and Sir Wilfrid cannot overlook the importance of it to his party politically. Defeat in the three provinces might mean defeat of the administration. No man is so likely to carry it as Mr. Sifton. Doubtless, Sir Wilfrid would be sorry to part with his colleague; Mr. Paterson because of his strength as a debater in the House of Commons and his excellence of character; Sir Richard for several reasons, principally for his good judgment and old comradeship; Mr. Scott for his great usefulness in the office of secretary of state, which he fills with scrupulous care. But with the passing of time new men enter the parliamentary arena, and they naturally push the older ones aside.

Advertiser's correspondent again refers to the retirement of Sir Frederick Borden as one of the early possibilities, and he concludes his statement with this observation:

"Although Sir Wilfrid did not see his way to accede to Mr. Sifton's conditions at the time, he is expected to do so in the near future. It is likely only a matter of a few weeks or months at most, and when Sir Wilfrid calls another general election it may be with a cabinet consisting almost exclusively of the younger class of Liberal politicians, nearly all of whom will be physically fit to go into the field and fight the next electoral campaign with the vigor Mr. Sifton considers essential to insure success at the polls."

"I won't say that we are gilded for every kind of a position," she modestly conceded, "in a recent discussion 'I'm sure I would never undertake to build bridges and things like that, I should simply get dizzy and tumble in or fall off. But there are lots and lots of real jobs that I would undertake. There's street cleaning. That is one thing a woman could boss to perfection.'

"Yes," Mr. Bodfish observed, indulgently, "How would you go to work to clean up if you were street commissioner?"

"How?" repeated his wife, "why, with brooms and hoes and shovels and things instead—" she paused—"instead of just an appropriation!" she finished, triumphantly.

Unique Exploration
The work in the Valley of the Tombs of the Kings is very different from that in most other excavations in Egypt. In digging out a temple, townsite or ordinary cemetery, the antiquities come to light in ones or twos, or in small groups; and the intense, though prolonged, is not often interrupted. The excavator does not always know the nature of his finds until he has placed them together in his own workshop and has studied them in his library. But in such diggings as Mr. Davis is doing after the slow removal of the accumulations of stone and rubbish has continued for many weeks without any reward, suddenly some morning a tomb is sighted; and within an hour or so one is brought face to face with the early ages, and a comprehensive view of some hitherto obscure period is obtained. For the first days of the work of recording a discovery of this kind, one lives, as it were, in the past, and before the first interest has faded and the slow and often tedious work of removing the antiquities to a place of safety has begun, one has received an impression of the life and deeds of the dead king or queen, and a glimpse of their personality, which no book study and no disconnected discoveries could ever give.—From Arthur E. P. Weigall's "A New Discovery in Egypt" in the September Century.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Hymen's Busy Time.

Five newly married couples registered at the Dallas yesterday. This is probably a local record for honeymoon arrivals in one day.

Half Holiday Saturdays

It is contemplated at Monday's meeting of the Builders' Exchange to advocate Saturday afternoon as a holiday all the year round.

Concert This Evening.

The Young People's society of the Metropolitan Methodist church will have charge of the weekly concert at 8 p.m. A choice programme has been prepared and the public generally is cordially invited. The concert commences at 8 o'clock.

Leaves for Old Country

R. M. Palmer, provincial commissioner of horticulture, leaves here Monday for the mainland en route to London with the provincial fruit exhibit. At the present time Hon. J. H. Turner is visiting the New Westminster fair, but he will probably leave at an early date for the old country.

Harvest Service

Tomorrow, Harvest Home services will be held in the first congregational church. The church is being prettily decorated with flowers and fruits. The fruit and vegetable used in decoration and all that are sent to the church, are to be given to the Protestant Orphanage. This is another opportunity to assist a good institution.

Local Composition

A new sacred song, the latest from the pen of Jesse A. Longfield, will be sung for the first time tomorrow evening at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church by Miss Kayton. The music is arranged to the well known words of the hymn, "More Love to Thee, O Christ." The author of these words is Elizabeth Prentiss.

Rate Cutting Goes On

The rate cutting on the Atlantic goes merrily on. The White Star, the Red Star, the Atlantic Transport line and the American line have notified E. E. Blackwood of further reductions in their first and second class minimum rates across the Atlantic, both east and west bound. First cabin rates have been cut as low as $50 and second class as low as $42.50.

Injured at Outer Wharf

While engaged in unloading the cargo of whale oil brought from the west coast whaling stations by the steamer Amur at the outer dock yesterday afternoon, Frank Berney, a longshoreman, had his foot crushed by a barrel of whaleoil, which fell from a sling while being taken to the hold of the steamer. The ankle was dislocated and the injured man, removed to the Provincial Royal Jubilee hospital for treatment.

Salmon Running Well

H. W. Lees of Lees & Mason's boat-house states that the salmon are running well at the present time. Every boat which goes out brings back two or more fish. One boat, which was out but at short time, brought back six good sized salmon of from seven to 14 pounds in weight. Another boat the other afternoon brought back three fish for an hour and a half's fishing. Mr. Lees commented on the small number who are taking advantage of the opportunity.

Saanich Annual Fair

The 40th annual exhibition of the Saanich Agricultural society will be held on Friday and Saturday, October 18 and 19. Prize lists may be had by applying to the secretary, Turgoose postoffice, Saanichton. In addition to the already extensive prize list, there will be special prizes given by B. B. Moore of Mt. Tolmie for the best collection of poultry, the donor not competing. There will also be a baby show for districts, babies and a dog chopping and a saving contest. A dance will be held in the evening.

St. John's Harvest Home

The harvest Thanksgiving services of St. John's Episcopal church will be held tomorrow. The collections of the day will go towards paying the taxes on the property. Special music has been prepared for the occasion by the choir, and the church will be specially decorated by the ladies of the church guild. The Sunday services are as follows: Holy Communion 8 p.m.; morning prayer and holy communion, 11 a.m.; preacher, Rev. P. Jones; children's services, 2:30 p.m.; preacher, Rev. A. J. S. Ard; evensong, 7 p.m.; preacher, Rev. A. J. S. Ard.

LADIES DECIDE TO ACCEPT THE OFFER

"Trip Through Happyland" Will Be Presented in the Victoria Theatre in Near Future

It has been definitely decided that the production of "A Trip Through Happyland," shall be put on in the Victoria theatre under the auspices of the Tourist association. At a meeting of the women's committee of the association held yesterday J. W. Evans, whose suggestion the undertaking is, and who will have charge of its presentation, was present and discussed the matter in all its bearings with the result that the ladies decided that the production be undertaken, and no effort will be spared to insure it a complete musical as well as financial success. Mrs. Charles W. Rhodes presided at the meeting and Mrs. Herbert Kent acted as secretary. The proceeds will be devoted to the fall advertising campaign of the Tourist association.

After the matter had been thoroughly gone into it was decided to accept Mr. Evans offer to superintend the production and the following committee was appointed to take the matter in hand and make all necessary arrangements: Mrs. Charles W. Rhodes, Mrs. D. M. Rogers, Mrs. Charles Spratt, Mrs. Simpson and Mrs. R. B. McMillan.

No time will be lost in commencing practice, and it is expected that the production will be presented in about a month's time. Another meeting of the ladies will be held in the Tourist association rooms on Monday afternoon to further discuss the matter.

VICTORIA IS BEAUTIFUL

Seattle Real Estate Man Gives His First Impressions of the City

Jonathan B. Gifford, a well known Seattle real estate man and president of the Seattle Real Estate Men's club, is paying his first visit to Victoria, and is delighted with the town. "I am very much in love with your city," said Mr. Gifford, "The vista seen as one enters the harbor is one of the most beautiful scenes of the kind I have seen. Victoria far exceeds my expectations, and I hope to get several new ideas on how to make a city beautiful before I return. One thing I have noticed which is strange to me, and which seems very practical, I refer to the backs and automobiles being compelled to stand in the middle of the streets. In Seattle they stand alongside the curb and are very much in the way. In some places in Seattle they have crowded the sidewalks so much that the property owners have complained that their buildings were rendered unapproachable without a considerable detour."

DEMAND FOR REALTY

Moderate Priced Homes, Lots and Acreage Are Selling Readily

McPherson & Fullerton report a very considerable demand for moderate priced homes. They are building eight for sale on their subdivision off the Cranford road in Victoria West, and all but two have been disposed of, although none of them are quite finished. They announce likewise the sale of a number of lots lately in their Constance Cove property, in which there are also but few lots left. They have also sold eight lots recently for building purposes on the Cadboro Bay road, near the Royal Jubilee hospital.

Acreage in the Portage Inlet subdivision has also been demanded, and the firm states that in the last two weeks they have disposed of two 14-acre lots; two 11-acre lots, two 5-acre lots and ten 2-acre lots.

The height is measured from the level of the lower low water at spring tides. This level corresponds with the datum to which the soundings on the Admiralty chart of Victoria harbor are referred, as closely as can now be ascertained.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water.

Well worth the money because it is the real concentration of the natural flower—the one genuine violet perfume. This is well illustrated in the fact of the real odor becoming apparent after the perfume is dry on the fabric.

KASLO'S FUTURE AS FRUIT CENTRE

R. F. Green Says District Has Great Possibilities in That Line

R. F. Green, former chief commissioner of lands and works, has returned to the city from Kaslo where con-jointly with Neil Mackay, M. P. P. for that constituency, he formally opened the annual fruit fair. It was the second fair held in Kaslo and Mr. Green was delighted with the showing made.
As he remarked: "While other exhibitions may excel it in the number of exhibits shown, none could excel it in the quality of the fruit."

Mr. Green upon his return brought with him two boxes of apples and one box of plums, the latter grown in his own garden at Kaslo, and they compare very favorably with the best fruit grown in any other district in British Columbia. At present they are on exhibition in the windows of the Paterson Shoe Company, Government street.

One box of apples is composed entirely of the variety called the Wealthy apple, the other of the variety called the latter grows probably to as great a degree of perfection in the Kaslo district as anywhere in the world and the fruit growers there are going in for it extensively. The fruit is highly colored and looks very fine. It ripens earlier in Kaslo than in most other portions of British Columbia. The plums are of the variety known as Pond's Seedlings.

Mr. Green is firmly convinced that the future possibilities of Kaslo as a fruit growing centre are unbounded and the district will be well up in fancy grades of fruits, the flavor being equal to that of any grown in other centres.

The district is in excellent condition and Mr. Green was surprised at the amount of land which is being set out in fruit. The residents are very enthusiastic as to the outlook, the capabilities and the chances of the district.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS

Laying of Boulevard on Heywood Avenue About Completed

Good work is being made on the boulavard and seeding of the streets on which a gang of men under the direction of D. D. England, boulevard superintendent, has been working for the past week or two. Heywood avenue will, it is expected, be completed today and work will immediately start on other streets. By reason of the removal of a number of old trees and the much needed pruning of others the appearance of Heywood avenue has been greatly improved and the residents along that thoroughfare are pleased at the improvement. As soon as the proposed by-law has been passed at the next council meeting it will be possible to push ahead the work on a number of other streets which the council has decided should be done this fall.

Game Is Plentiful

Percy Richardson, proprietor of the Army and Navy cigar store, returned yesterday from a three days' shooting trip at Beaver Lake, where he was the guest of John Piercy. A deer and a goodly bag of pheasants, quail and teal duck testify to his prowess as a nimrod. Mr. Richardson reports game plentiful.

New Company

A new company has recently been organized to be known as the Victoria Colonization Company, Limited, and occupy temporary quarters in the Adams block, Broad street, next to the Driad hotel. The new company comprises capitalists from the East as well as the West, which, while giving them a thorough knowledge of the geography and location of the different districts, it also puts them in possession of a knowledge of the requirements of people coming from the eastern provinces or states. It is the intention of the Victoria Colonization Company to secure more suitable and more commodious quarters soon as possible.

SUFFERING UNLIKELY IN BULKLEY VALLEY

There is Sufficient Provisions, Though the Luxuries May Run Short
During Winter

Harry Winfield, who has spent the summer in the Bulkley valley country at the head of a prospecting party, returned to Victoria on Thursday night. He stated that he had not found any quartz worth locating considering the great expense now attending on any mining operations in that country. Speaking of the reported shortage of provisions in that section,
he said:

"I don't think there will be any suffering in the Bulkley valley this winter on account of lack of provisions.
They may run short of luxuries, but I think there will be plenty to eat. To begin with very few people will winter in there, and the Hazelton ought to make another trip before navigation closes."

"There are some nice farming valleys in that section, but I think most of the land has been taken up. I did not see much timber of commercial value in the sections I visited, nor any claims of quartz worth staking.
There are, however, a good many claims already staked. The owners are all waiting for the railroad, as at present the cost of mining is prohibi-tively except for a bonanza. There are some splendid coal showings there, but, of course, much work cannot be done until there is transportation. The Grand Trunk surveyors were in there all the summer and a wagon road is being built. Altogether things ought to move as soon as railroad construction actually begins, but in the meantime people are waiting, and there is not much doing."

COURT TANGLES UNDER RULE 1043

Attorney-General's Statement in Regard to Recent Delay in Victoria

Vancouver, Oct. 4.—Having seen an article in the Colonist of October 2,
in reference to the omission of Mr.
Justice Irving, as senior puisne judge, to appoint a Supreme Court judge to hold sittings in Victoria, till the Chief Justice should return from his vacation in the East, your correspondent interviewed Attorney-General
Bowser about the matter.

Hon. Mr. Bowser when asked if he had seen the article replied that he had, and in fairness Mr. Justice Irving he wished to state that that gentleman had given him a copy of the correspondence that had passed between himself and Mr. Justice Martin. Mr. Justice Irving had told him also that it was not till he arrived in Vancouver on Monday afternoon to preside at the Assizes next day, that he had learned that the Chief Justice would not be back till October 5.
When he heard that he sent the following telegram to Mr. Justice Martin:

"I learned today that Chief Justice Irving will be in the city on Monday and take Victoria business this week. If you desire it will send you formal request."

"The following day at noon, while presiding at the court here, Mr. Justice Irving received the following reply from Mr. Justice Martin:

"Your telegram received. If you have any directions to give me under Rule 1043, there must necessarily be assignment under that rule before I can exercise jurisdiction."

"The following day Mr. Justice Irving wired back on the same day:

"Have mailed you formal direction to hold civil sittings fixed for Victoria today, to act as Judge in Chambers at Victoria during this week. It is probable that you will be asked to go to Kamloops next week to dispose of business there."

"The following," said Mr. Bowser,
"is a copy of the directions mailed to Mr. Justice Martin on Tuesday afternoon," and he read:

"Hon. Mr. Justice Martin will hold civil sittings fixed for Victoria this first day of October, and also act as judge in Chambers at Victoria during this week."

"Mr. Justice Irving informs me further," said the Attorney-General, "that before the Chief Justice went East he had assigned Mr. Justice Martin, through the Registrar, to take the Victoria Assizes, but I believe the assignment was given verbally, and this question as to whether the assignment should be made verbally or in writing seems to be the whole matter in dispute. To say the least, such a dispute is very unfortunate, particularly when it affects the administration of justice as it does at present."

MUST CARRY LIGHTS

Police Ordered to Enforce Regulations in That Respect

Hereafter the by-law regarding the carrying of lights on vehicles and bicycles will be enforced by the police department, Chief Langley having issued orders to that effect. The section of the by-law reads: Every vehicle whether the same is used for hire or not, shall at all times between one hour after sunset and one hour before sunrise carry a good and sufficient light on each side of such vehicle.
Bicycles shall during the same hours, carry a light attached to the front portion of the machine of sufficient illuminating power to be readily seen at a distance of at least thirty yards.

Of late the above provision of the by-law, the authorities claim, has been more honored in the breach than in the observance and as a result of a number of complaints made, the police will hereafter be on the lookout for those offending against the regulations.

OBITUARY NOTICES

While on a visit to friends in Ladysmith, Joseph Hathon, a wealthy merchant of San Soudee, Mont., died suddenly on Thursday last. The deceased was a native of White Horn, Scotland, came to Ladysmith some days ago in search of health. He was 45 years of age and was interested in three large mercantile houses.

The death occurred yesterday of Richard Alexander Dodd, a this residence, 24 Bay street. The deceased was a native son and well known in this city. For some time he has suffered from diabetes, but death was due to pneumonia. He was thirty-three years old, and is survived by a wife.

The funeral of the late John Thorburn took place from the residence of Hon. William Templeman, Simcoe street yesterday. The deceased met his death in Bellingham, on October 2, and the remains arrived yesterday morning on the steamer Charming from there via Vancouver. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr.
Campbell and the following were pallbearers: J. Jardine, M.P.P., R. Dunn, W. Lemm, B. C. Nicholas, W. McCar-ter and John Nelson.

Ready made Clothing that equals the best work of the custom tailors is something which interests every man, for it means lower prices and money saved to the man on the street. The advertising of "Broadway Brand" clothing, manufactured by W. S. Chal-craft & Co., Limited, Toronto, is now appearing in leading papers throughout Canada. This firm claims that "Broadway Brand" goods in texture, style, fit and quality of workmanship serve the average man as well as the best production of a custom tailor would, and that any man who sees their goods will recognize this. Messrs. Chalcraft & Co.'s factory is one of the best lighted and best equipped in Toronto and the employees enjoy the very best accommodation and treatment. "Broadway Brand" clothing is sold by the leading clothing stores all over Canada. Dealers in British Columbia and western Alberta who have not seen this brand should write to J. M. Ross, Alberta hotel, Calgary, who will be pleased to call and show them a full line of samples.

JOHN HAYES TO STAND A TRIAL

Alleged Pickpocket is Committed, Despite Counsel's Earnest Plea

John Hays was committed for trial yesterday by Police Magistrate Jay on the charge of having picked the pocket of T. A. Williams while he was entering a car at the corner of Government and Fort streets September 26. Mr. Williams was on his way to the exhibition, and, according to his testimony yesterday, as he boarded a car he felt a hand in his pocket.
He turned round and saw Hays just behind him, and was sure that he was the owner of the hand. On getting into the car he felt for his money and found that $6 in Canadian paper money was missing. Apparently Hays boarded one of the other waiting cars, for Williams saw him again at the fair grounds not long after his arrival. Thereupon he taxed him with the theft, and got his money back, though Hays declined to admit he had taken it.

It appeared in evidence that Hays was arrested on the charge of having attempted to pick another man's pocket.
Mr. Reid of Vancouver was the alleged second victim, and he held Hays and turned him over to the police. J. A. Alkman in vain tried to keep out the evidence regarding the man's arrest on the ground that it had nothing to do with the charge on which he was being tried. It also appeared in evidence that Hays had had two extra secret pockets made in his trousers, which Detective Palmer declared were a part of the common equipment of pickpockets.

Mr. Alkman made a strong argument for a dismissal of the charge, quoting a judgment of Chief Justice Kilham of Manitoba to show that in such cases the guilt must be traced very clearly to the accused to insure a conviction, and it was noticeable that, though arrested shortly after the alleged crime that bills corresponding to those supposed to have been stolen were not found on him, while the money he gave back was American—not Canadian—money.

So strongly did Mr. Alkman press his plea that Chief of Police Langley, contrary to his usual custom, addressed his worship, asking for a committal, laying stress on the fact of the refund of the money as evidence of guilt. The chief made quite a speech and won his point, Magistrate Jay saying that he considered that a prima facie case had been made out, which was all that was necessary to commit the prisoner for trial.

Mr. Alkman made another request that the money belonging to the accused and which had been retained by the police should be handed over. The chief made no objection, and the money was paid over. The sum amounts to $180.10, $15.10 having been found when he was first searched and $165 more by Detective Palmer later on in the secret pockets referred to.

WESTMINSTER FAIR IS WELL UP TO MARK

Deputy Minister of Agriculture Speaks of the Excellent Showing of Live Stock

J. R. Anderson, deputy minister of agriculture, returned yesterday from the fair at New Westminster. He states that the fair has been well up to the mark. As in the local exhibition the exhibit of live stock was particularly good. J. Turner, of Calgary, showed some very fine heavy horses,
the same hackney horse which won here carrying off the honors. The dairy cattle exhibited were particularly fine, especially in the Ayrshire classes. Mr. Wells, of Chilliwack, and Mr. Austin of Coquitlam especially showed some very fine animals.
There were fine exhibits of sheep and swine. Of the latter there were more Yorkshire pigs shown than of the other classes though there were some fine Berkshire and Tamworths shown also.

The district fruit exhibits were especially good and there were more of them than ever. As a result the general display of fruit was not so good,
the district exhibitors seeking good places to display their products while the general exhibit was centered in the one place and was deficient as compared with the others.

Domestic science and dairying products were well represented. They were in charge of Miss Maddock and Miss Rose who gave demonstrations and talks.

Professor Henderson, of Idaho, was judge of the fruit. He was highly pleased with the excellence of the exhibits. A fine display of Alberta's products were sent down from Edmonton.

The attendance so far has been good though the weather Thursday and Friday was unfavorable, rain falling.

HERE AND THERE

The Toronto Mail and Empire has an article on picture post cards. It states that its attention has been called to the flood of vulgar and immoral post cards to be seen now-a-days. This is strong language and if the practice of sending such things through the mail is general throughout Canada the strongest measures cannot too soon be taken to put a stop to it. In such matters eternal vigilance is the price of safety.

The Steamer Baltic, which recently arrived in New York has among her passengers a thousand young girls who had come to America to look for work. A great many girls have during the summer come to Canada and obtained situations in various occupations in the large cities of Ontario and Quebec. Housekeepers in Victoria would welcome a large number of them and pay them good wages if they found their way across the continent.

WOMAN'S WORK

The ladies' committee of the Tourist association decided at their meeting yesterday afternoon to accept Mr. Evans' offer to produce "A Trip Through Happyland" at the Victoria theatre. A strong committee has been formed and every effort will be made to make the performance a decided success.

A large number of ladies carrying gifts of many dimensions assembled at the W.C.T.U. mission on Yates street yesterday afternoon. It is the last time the ladies' parlor will be available for such a function as the spread of the work makes it necessary to divide the apartment into bedrooms. A walk along the corridor showed that the kind matron, Mrs. Field, has for some time been forced to resort to clever shifts to accommodate those who for one reason or other sought her hospitality. The use of the parlor will relieve the situation temporarily, but it looks as if in the near future a larger and better building will be needed. In the meantime a committee of ladies is looking for a room in which to hold the regular meetings of the society.

Few of the ladies of the Alexandra Club or their friends will need to be reminded that this is their first guest day for this season. Yesterday the decorating committee were busy and the pretty room will be as bright as energy and good taste can make them.

The Vancouver Province says that Mrs. Spofford of this city, provincial president of the W. C. T. U., who has been absent for some weeks attending the Dominion convention recently held in Winnipeg addressed a meeting on Thursday evening in the Mount Pleasant Methodist schoolroom and gave a report of the convention.

TALENTED LADY WILL SPEND WINTER HERE

Mrs. Fitzgibbon Will Look Into Conditions of Settlement on Vancouver Island

Mrs. Fitzgibbon, whose writing under the pen name of Lolly Bernard are familiar to many Canadian readers has arrived in Victoria and will make her home here during the winter. She has come to look into conditions on Vancouver Island. There are, Mrs. Fitzgibbon says, a great number of English people who would come to live here if they could obtain small holdings and live quietly while they educate their sons and daughters. The field is wider and there is greater scope for the ability of young people, who must rely upon their own resources, in Canada than in the old land.

One of the things Mrs. Fitzgibbon was anxious to know about was what provision had been made in Victoria for the comfort of families of moderate means who came to the city after a long journey and who would be forced to remain a few days on perhaps weeks while they were looking about for a permanent home. In Toronto and in other cities there are places apart from the hotels where women and children are provided with comfortable rooms and meals at a cheap rate while their husbands and fathers are searching for employment or looking for homes. In Winnipeg this work is done by the Young Women's Christian Association, and in Toronto, Mrs. Fitzgibbon, a namesake of her own, has succeeded admirably in setting on foot such a scheme.

Mrs. Fitzgibbon says that after speaking in England on Canada, she has been deluged with letters inquiring how much it would cost to come to British Columbia, what steps would be necessary to take to secure a home and what were the expenses of living here. It is to be able to answer such questions intelligently and correctly that Mrs. Fitzgibbon has come to Victoria. There is she says a large and very desirable class of English people who are attracted to Vancouver Island by the climate and other conditions of life here.

Speaking of the Women's council, Mrs. Fitzgibbon expressed her very strong belief in the value of the organization, saying she personally had found it exceedingly valuable in bringing about the settlement of the Douglas. The earth is our mother, but thou—thou art father of us and of time;

For all that dwell were not when thou wast strong in thy prime.
There was silence first, and then darkness, and under the garment of these
Was the body of thee in thy night,
With its infinite mysteries.
And God alone was aware of thy presence

And out of his knowledge foresaw His will in thy calm and storm.
Answering unto His will, He gave thee lordship and crown.
And bade the kingdoms of man worship thee and bow down.

WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENTS

Ormsby-McArthur.

The marriage of George Ormsby, of Kamloops, and Miss Margaret McArthur, daughter of Hugh McArthur, of Eburne, was solemnized in the Presbyterian church at Eburne, Wednesday at 10.45 a.m. The pastor of the church, Rev. J. A. Logan officiating. The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion and many people witnessed the ceremony. The groom was attended by Roy R. Stewart and the ladies in attendance with the bride were her sisters, Mrs. J. McArthur, and Miss McArthur. The bridal party drove to Vancouver and accompanied the happy couple to the steamer, on which they embarked for a trip to Victoria. After a few days spent at the capital Mr. and Mrs. Ormsby will go to Kamloops, their future home.

PERSONAL MENTION

The Colonist readers are asked to assist in making this personal column as complete as possible. Send or phone items to the city editor.

Premier McBride will return today from the mainland where he has been attending the fair at New Westminster.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, who are spending a portion of their honeymoon in the city, are guests at the Balmoral. In a few days they intend to leave for their future home at Okotoks.

E. E. Summers, of Nanaimo, manager of the David Spencer Limited's store at that point, is a visitor in the city.

E. J. Skeans, formerly of Jones & Skeans, of this city, has opened an office in Vancouver, where he is engaged in the lumber business.

J. T. M. Lemon, of Dawson, who has been staying at the Dominion, yesterday entered St. Joseph's hospital, where he will undergo an operation.

The wits of a great many bright young people were busily exercised during the past week devising original as well as puzzling badges to be worn at the entertainment given by Mrs. (Dr.) Nelson at the Cosy Corner tea rooms Thursday. The contest took the form of an annual party and as bears, weasels, drakes wolves and a variety of other creatures of the air, earth and water greeted one another, there was as much fun as their kind hostess hoped. Great ingenuity was displayed not only in planning the badges, but in guessing their signification.

Senator Baird and daughter of Andover, New Brunswick, are spending a few days in this city.

Mrs. (Capt.) Gould, who has been enjoying a holiday at Esquimalt, has returned to her home, corner of Simcoe street and Clarence avenue.

J. R. Anderson, deputy minister of agriculture, has left the city to attend the fair in New Westminster.

Miss Bertha Morley of View street, who has been spending the past year with friends in England, has returned to her home.

Many Canadians will be interested in the forthcoming marriage of Lady Ruby Elliott, second daughter of the Earl and Countess of Minto, to Viscount Errington, son and heir of Lord Cromer, another great proconsul of the empire. Lady Ruby is now 21 years of age, and immensely popular, while Viscount Errington is 30. For some time he was attached at the British embassy at Tcheran. He also spent many years in Egypt, the country which owes so much to his father, and for the administration of which Lord Cromer was recently rewarded with a gift of $250,000 by the British parliament.—Toronto Globe.

Miss Bryce has gone to the New Westminster fair, and will visit friends at Ladner.

Capt. and Miss Bergquist have left for Harrison hot springs, where they intend to remain a couple of weeks.

R. W. Perry, local manager of the Little West Permanent, went to Vancouver yesterday on the Charmer in connection with business of the company. He will return on Monday.

George Agnew, a merchant of Rossland, who has been in Victoria for the past two days, left for home via Vancouver yesterday.

John E. Gunning left last night by the Princess Victoria and the North Coast Limited for New York, whence he will sail by the Cunarder Lusitania for Liverpool. Mr. Gunning is connected with Lloyd's.

Burges Gadsden left yesterday by the North Coast Limited for his home in Winnipeg.

Thomas Worrell left last night for Montreal, whence he will sail by the C. P. R. Atlantic line steamer Lake Erie for Liverpool.

F. C. Gamble, chief engineer of the provincial land and works department, has returned to the city from the upper mainland, where he has been on departmental business.

Stuart Henderson, M. P. P., is a visitor in the city en route to the Cariboo, where he will act as counsel for the defence in a manslaughter case to be heard at the next sitting of the criminal court at Barkerville. He will remain in the city for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Brown and Miss Erickson, of Banff, are guests at the Dominion hotel. They intend to spend the winter in Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Rogers and son, of Edmonton, who came to the coast for the New Westminster fair, are spending a few days in the city the guests of Mrs. Rogers' sister, Mrs. H. F. Pullen, 1933 Burdette avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalgleish, of Kelowna, are visitors in the city, guests at the Dominion hotel.

Mrs. Watts Jones, of North Wales, is registered at the Dallas. Mrs. Jones is on a tour of the world, and from here will travel westward via China, India, A. Stralia and South Africa.

Robert M. Ogilvie, a civil engineer, of Ottawa, arrived at the Dallas yesterday, but had immediately to return home in consequence of the receipt of a telegram announcing the death of his sister.

Did you ever try

'Camp' COFFEE?

If not, you have no idea how good it is; how much superior to everything else, how easy to make, and how economical in use. Just try a bottle next time you want coffee—follow the directions on the label, and you'll be astonished. It is so good. E. Patterson & Sons, Coffee Specialists, Glasgow.

HARNESS STARS FOR LEXINGTON

Greatest Race Meeting of the Year Will Open on Tuesday

Lexington, Oct. 4.—Next Tuesday the greatest harness race meeting of the year will commence. The announcement of the names of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association meeting, October 8th to 28th, surpasses all previous records in several of the big races, so far as sensational class is concerned and the list is fully up to the average in every other respect.

The Kentucky Futurity, the richest stake of the trotting turf this year, bids fair to be the most sensational ever pulled off over the famous course. Among the twenty-five three-year-olds still eligible to this event are Kentucky Todd, 2:08½; Aquila, Belle Bird, 2:11½; Barley, 2:12½; Douglas, 2:12½; Blue Hill, 2:11; Sir Todd, 2:11; Bonnie Way, McKidies, Bertha Leyburn, The Native, General Watts, 2:09½; Miss Densmore and Bertine.

Of these that have publicly demonstrated their ability to go in 2:10 and have proven themselves as Futurity class are Kentucky Todd, 2:08½; General Watts, 2:09½; Blue Hill, Douglas, Belle Bird, Miss Densmore, Bertine and Bonnie Way. It would seem that the Futurity this year would be at the mercy of either Kentucky Todd or General Watts. But when the race is in no way certain, as endurance as well as speed has much to do with it.

The entries in the two-year-old division of the Futurity is the smallest in years. But what they lack in quantity they make up in quality. Those who are in the leading Lady, Cramp-ford, Peter Pan, Helen Hale, The Laird, Dorothy Axworthy, Bivola, John Gray, Summer Bond, Ora Lambert, Matt Silver, Justo, Zalem and Thistle Down. Several of these have gone miles better than 2:15, and the Kentucky filly in 2:14½ within a second of the world's two-year-old record.

The three-year-old pacing Futurity has nine entries, with Shakespeare a hot favorite.

The famous old Transylvania, the race in which many of the best drivers have met to contest for the final championship, has sixteen entries this year, and promises to be one of the most hotly contested races ever pulled off over any trotting track in America. The horses named are Margaret C., 2:08½; Wilkes, 2:08½; Jack, 2:08½; Sterling McKiney, 2:09½; Clay's Lads, 2:09½; Athasham, 2:09½; Baraja, 2:10½; Mary Earl, 2:10½; Thornfield, 2:10½; Ice-lander, 2:10½; Henry S. Jr., 2:10½; Katherine L., 2:10½; Marascheal and Spanish Queen. There is not a horse in the field that is not a proven high class has a trotter and has not in races shown miles in 2:05 or better. It will be the first time that Sonoma Girl and her great rival, Highball, have met in a three-in-five contest, and there are a few that believe that neither will win. The great draw in this race is that Silko, the game little wonder of the three-year-old Futurity last season, will be kept in the barn while his stable companion, Jack Leyburn, will start. After Silko's race at Columbus, when he forced Astell to a record of 2:05½, and trotted a mile himself in 2:05½, his owner, John Madden, wired not to start him again this year, and it is said that the master of Hamburg Place has refused an offer of $30,000 for the winner of the 1906 Futurity.

In the historic Tennessee stake, $3,000, for 2:10, the entries are as follows: Custer, 2:05½; John A., 2:04½; Hedgewood, 2:04½; Kruger, 2:04; Reproaches, 2:04½; Jennie W. Wilson, 2:07½; Leland, 2:07½; Ryd Wilkes, 2:05½; R. F. D., 2:05½; Darkey Hal, 2:06½; Brenda York, 2:08½; Alice Peck, 2:05½; and George Gano.

SEATTLE DOG IS WINNER

All-Aged Stake in Pacific Northwest Field Trials Run

La Conner, Oct. 4.—Under trying conditions, a Seattle dog, McCloud's Boy, owned by John W. Considine, won the all-aged stakes in the Pacific Northwest field trials. The Seattle dog gave a fine exhibition of speed, gameness and intelligence.

Rain fell nearly all day, at times very hard. The birds were scarce and the footing bad, but the dogs did some good work. It was the closing day of the field trials.

The dogs were sent away for the all-aged stakes in the following order: First series:

First brace—Diamond Spot, owned by S. Hansen, Seattle, and McCloud's Boy, owned by John W. Considine, Seattle.

Second brace—J. W. C. Rodfield, owned by Weisman, Spokane, and Sport's Bay Boy, owned by McDonnell, Vancouver.

Third brace—Sport's Rip-Rap, owned by McDonnell, and Abbott Jock, owned by H. J. Abbott, both of Vancouver.

Fourth brace—Point and Madge, both owned by McDonnell.

Fifth brace—Glee Boy, owned by McDonnell, and Veronica, owned by Ford, of San Francisco.

Second series:

First brace—McCloud's Boy and Sport's Rip-Rap.

Second brace—Point and Glee Boy.

Results: McCloud's Boy first, Sport's Rip-Rap second, Glee Boy third.

GAME ENDS IN DRAW

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—The two day cricket match between the Canadian eleven and the representatives of the Marylebone club came to an end in a draw. The Canadian Club piled up 94 for its first innings. After luncheon the visitors went in and after scoring 115 declared their second innings closed, making the total 234, and leaving the Canadians 142 to win. Marylebone dismissed eight of the Canadians for 74 and came near winning with the time limit. Marylebone punished the bowling of the Canadians in the second innings, though Montgomery, Bristow and Wakely improved as the game progressed. Batting honors were carried off by Schwartz, the South African, who put up 51 out. For the Canadians the good scores were McGivern's 29, and Rabris 19 in the first, and Haygate's 20, Winter's 14 and Woakey's 12, in the second innings.

Canadian Champion Beaten

Chicago, Oct. 4.—The representatives of the Women's Western Golf club defeated the team sent from Canada by a score of 7 to 2. Miss Sallie Ainsley, runner up for the Western championship, led the Western Golf association team and defeated Miss Mabel Thompson, champion of Canada. The scores were low, as a rule, because of the wet grounds.

VICTORIA HORSES IN SEATTLE SHOW

Local Equine Owners to Exhibit Stock in Big Event this Month

Seattle, Oct. 4.—Seattle horse lovers will see in action at the horse show one of the most noted jumpers in this country. Foxcatcher, the beautiful and speedy animal owned by Allan Pinkerton, of Chicago, will be shown in the jumping classes when the four days' exhibition is on.

There will be a great number of new animals exhibited besides those whose names have been made public before. J. W. Clise has entered Troubadour, a Morgan stallion three years old, which he imported from the east several months ago, and which has since been on the Clise farm. C. B. Russell is bringing a Belgian roan stallion, Lotus, seven years old, from eastern Washington. Maj. Dupont, of Victoria, has entered a beautiful chestnut gelding.

Several horses have been brought to Seattle lately from the famous Dobson stock farm of Iowa, founded by W. A. Dobson. R. M. Ninneer will show a family pair in the heavy harness class from the Dobson farm. A. S. Kory will also secure a horse, Busy Bee, from the same stables.

J. A. Mitchell, of Victoria, who was the first president of the Winnipeg horse show, is taking a great interest in the local exhibition. He has promised eight horses with a total of seventeen entries.

David Spencer & Sons, also of Victoria, have some high steppers entered. Charles Manning, of Everett, showed ponies here last year. One of them, the imported Welsh pony Dandy, was champion of the open pony class at that time, and will be out for honors again. D. Hamm, of South Park, has some ponies that will give Manning plenty of competition.

John S. Baker, of Tacoma, will show some good saddle horses. Two black geldings, Highland Games and Thelma, three-gaited horses, are the pick. Miss Helena Fring will ride a recent acquisition in the saddle horse class, a brown gelding, Knight.

Jui-Jitsu Champion Beaten

Vancouver, Oct. 4.—A. McLaglen defeated "Kanada," world's champion jui-jitsu wrestler at New Westminster today after a contest lasting two hours. McLaglen had the better of the match throughout.

ATHLETES DROP ANOTHER GAME

Philadelphia Americans Beaten by Washington in Close Game

Washington, Oct. 4.—Philadelphia went down in the first game of the Washington series today, thus losing one of the four games they had counted on winning, in order to overcome Detroit's lead, should the latter lose the St. Louis series. Philadelphia came back in the second game, however, and won so easily that it heartened Manager "Connie Mack" and tonight he claimed that the race for the pennant was still on.

"We've got a fighting chance," he said. "It lies in winning both games tomorrow and the Detroit's losing their three games with St. Louis."

The game, the loss of which meant so much for the Philadelphia's went ten innings, and the "Idaho wonder," Johnson was chiefly instrumental in settling the contest. He was effective with men on bases and kept the hits well scattered. Plank was touched up for ten hits, several of which came in bunches. Washington broke the ice in the sixth inning, three singles sending Delehanty across the plate. The Philadelphia's tied it up in the eighth with Collins, who batted in place of Powers—a hit to the club house for three bases, but was out at the plate on Hartnell's grounder to Shipke. Lord hit to left scoring Hartzell.

After Shipke singled in the tenth, Cross fumbled Johnson's grounder, and Milam's slow hit filled the bases. Gannely hit to Davis, who did not get the ball home in time to catch Shike. In the second game the visitors had no trouble in finding "Long Tom" Hughes, while Deert and his supporters put up a good defense.

THE NECKBAND OF A SHIRT

Any W&A Shirt is, more comfortable than any ordinary shirt.

One reason is the care we take to fit the neckband properly.

Shaped to support the collar without riding on the throat or shoulder muscles—true to size exactly—buttonholes accurately placed—doubly sewn to stand wear and laundry-racking.

SEAMAN DROWNED ON WEST COAST

William Holness of Steamer Maude Lost Life When Boat Capsized

ENGAGED SHIFTING CAMP

Was Moving Gear of Trailbuilders From West to East of Pachena

An accident which involved the loss of one life and the narrow escape of some others took place off Pachena point, Thursday when one of the boats of the steamer Maude of the British Columbia Salvage company, now under charter to the marine department, was capsized while carrying camp material for the trail builders engaged under Mr. Macdonald for public works department in the construction of a trail between Bamfield and Carmanah. The victim of the accident was William Holness, a young Englishman, who was a seaman of the Maude.

A telegram from Capt. Anderson of the Maude, to Capt. Gaudin, agent of marine, says that the Maude took place while a boat's crew from the steamer were engaged in shifting camp for Mr. Macdonald, who is engaged in constructing the trail. A landing was being made half a mile to the eastward of Pachena point, where a new light station was recently established, to shift the camp gear of the trail builders from one side of the point to the other when the boat was capsized in the surf. William Holness was drowned, the other occupants of the boat being saved.

Holness was unmarried. It is not known if he had any relatives in this province.

AMUR IN PORT

Brings Large Shipments of whale Oil and Fertilizer From West Coast.

The steamer Amur, Capt. Whitely, which was despatched to Kyuquot and Quatsino sound to carry supplies for the whalers and railroad for the June group of mines to which a railway is being built from tidewater, has returned to port with the largest shipment of whale oil and fertilizer yet brought from the island coast. It consisted of 1,264 barrels of whale oil and 1,270 bags of fertilizer from Kyuquot and Sechart whaling stations, as well as a shipment of whalebone, which it is intended to have ground and converted into bonemeal for use as a fertilizer. There is now on hand a considerable supply of whalebone which is to be treated in this manner.

News was brought by the Amur that the steamer St. Lawrence has been having good hunting. She took twelve whales in three days last week, seven being captured within twenty-four hours. The Orion was hindered last week by bad weather and from Friday to Monday took only one whale.

KESTREL AFTER SMUGGLER

Unable to Catch Storekeeper Sought After Officials Seize His Household Goods

The D. G. S. Kestrel, Captain Newcombe, has returned to Vancouver from a cruise in northern waters, where a lookout was kept for smugglers, poachers, etc. Captain Newcombe got wind of smuggling operations being carried on by a storekeeper at Kincolith. The scheme worked was to ship the goods to port on the American side and then take them up the Naas river to Kincolith on Indian boats without paying duty. Before the Kestrel arrived the storekeeper heard that his name was known, and loading his dutiable goods on fishing boats, cleared out for Ketchikan, at the same time shipping his household effects south on the Camosun. Finding the birds had flown, the Kestrel doubled back and, catching up with the Camosun at Esquimalt, the smuggler's household effects were seized, to be held till duty is paid on the smuggled goods.

The steamer President left Seattle on Thursday for Cape Nome, taking a full cargo. She had 27 passengers. The steamer Lake Erie landed her passengers at Quebec last night.

KIDNEY TROUBLES FROM THE LIVER

In his study of kidney disease, Dr. Chase found that fully 90 per cent. of the cases arose as a direct result of liver and bowel disorders, and it was working on this idea that led to the discovery of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver pills.

Through overeating, irregular meals, or food that was not agreeable, the liver is deranged, poisonous bile is left in the blood, and the digestive system is upset. Headaches, biliousness, pains in back and limbs, ill temper, and general out-of-sort feelings result.

These are among the symptoms of liver complaint, but during such attacks the kidneys are overworked and after a while there is pain and smarting when passing water, the urine is highly colored and contains deposits, the pains in the back become more severe, you have rheumatic pains it may be, and are gradually falling a victim of Bright's disease of the kidneys.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were prepared for the express purpose of effecting cure in every stage of such cases. They enliven the liver, regulate the action of the bowels and invigorate the kidneys. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

WILL EMPLOY ARMY

Thirty Thousand Workmen for New Shipyards of British Firms

In regard to the working combination effected between the yards of Messrs. John Brown & Co., Ltd., Clydebank, and Messrs. Harland & Wolff, Belfast, one result will doubtless be that John Brown & Co., Ltd., and their subsidiary companies, of which Thomas Firth & Sons, Ltd., of Sheffield, is the most important, will find a steady market for their shafting, flues, cables, heavy steel forgings and castings and turbine machinery required by the Belfast firm. The great repairing works at Southampton, which are now under construction by the Belfast firm, will also relieve both yards so far as may be desirable in case of a glut in repairing work. With regard to tonnage output, both firms have been frequently at the head of the list, and combined they cannot be touched by any existing rival. They will employ in collieries, blast furnaces, iron mines at home and abroad, steel works, armor plate mills, ordnance works, and in their engineering works and shipyards over 30,000 men, earning more than £2,250,000 a year in wages.

The British steamer Earl of Douglas, which loaded lumber at Clayougt for New York, arrived at Coronel for coal on September 27.

COMERIC SHORT OF FUEL

Weir Liner Put Into Astoria on Way Here With But Five Tons of Coal

Some weeks ago one of the Weir steamers reached Royal Roads from Guaymas with but two tons of steam coal left on the plates of her bunker space, and it was necessary to tow a scow load of coal to her anchorage in the Roads before she could proceed to Comox for coal. The master of the steamer figured his run closely, and on arrival here said he would have put into Astoria if necessary. A dispatch from Astoria states that the steamer Comeric has had a similar experience. The Comeric, which was expected to reach port from Guaymas yesterday, put into Astoria on Thursday with but five tons of coal in her bunkers, and would have been in actual distress had not the pilot been ready to bring her into a safe anchorage. While she is under charter to load lumber for Shanghai from Portland and Puget sound, it was intended that she would take on her fuel at Comox before loading. Meeting very bad weather in coming up the coast, it was necessary to burn more coal than expected, and if Pilot Leigh-ton had not been immediately available a sad story might have been told later. It is quite probable that the steamship will now take on her cargo before proceeding to Comox for coal.

SEALING CONVENTION ALTOGETHER UNFAIR

San Francisco Newspaper Calls Attention to Present Situation in Bering Sea

The San Francisco Call says under the head "A Japanese Preserve": "Constant recurrence of trouble between Japanese seal poachers and the United States revenue cutters in Bering sea calls attention to the anomalous and unfair conditions created by the existing convention or treaty between Great Britain and this country on the subject of sealing. By that convention British or Canadian vessels as well as those of American registry are prohibited from killing seals within sixty miles of the Pribilof Islands, where the rookeries and breeding places are situated. The effect of this agreement is to create a sealing preserve for Japanese poachers. Under international law they have the right to kill seals anywhere outside of the three miles from shore limit. The treaty, therefore, gives them exclusive fishing rights in the zone between the three miles and the sixty mile limits. If they were content with these exclusive privileges there would be less objection, but they are not. They are constantly poaching inside the three mile limit and sometimes even raid the rookeries. Last year some of the poachers were shot by guards on the islands, and this summer the crews of two Japanese vessels caught in the act of killing seals within the three mile limit were arrested by the revenue cutter Manning and after trial before Judge Wickersham at Valdez were convicted and fined.

"The conclusion that seems to be compelled by these conditions is that there is not much sense in maintaining a preserve for Japanese poachers. The fur seal is evidently doomed to extinction, in any event, and in that view American and Canadian sealers ought to be given an equal chance with the Japanese. Of course, if the Japanese could be decent about it they might sign the treaty that now binds Great Britain and the United States."

CREW WAS RESCUED.

Kilrush, Ireland, Oct. 4.—Not until yesterday afternoon did the coast guardsmen succeed in rescuing the crew of the French ship Leon XIII, which went on the rocks near Sena last night. Her sails were blown to ribbons, mountainous seas beat over the vessel and her crew of twenty-five men, huddled in the bow, could get no shelter from the waves.

Although the Leon XIII. was only about 250 yards from the mainland, a rocky barrier prevented lifeboats from coming to her. Attempts to save the crew were renewed at daybreak today. At 1 p.m. the guards succeeded in throwing a line over the stranded vessel and three of the crew were rescued. As the weather continued to improve, it was expected that the others will be taken off.

The Leon XIII. arrived at Queens-town September 26 from Portland, Ore., and from there sailed northward

HARBOR WORKS REQUIRED SOON

Shipping Men Hold That Improvement Will Be Necessary in Near Future

That the future needs of the port of Victoria in view of the increase of tonnage in the North Pacific trade and the further increase in prospect will soon need better accommodation than that available at present; and that the time has come for the formation of a harbor works or other body for the purpose of securing such harbor works as will be necessary, is the opinion of many shipping and business men. The general idea is that a breakwater and wharfage stretching to deep water within the harbor created by the construction of the breakwater will soon be necessary. At the present the outer wharves, built many years ago by R. P. Rithet & Co., fulfill the requirements of the existing trade, but if a growth of shipping in the past is taken as a criterion of the future other wharfage available to vessels of great tonnage, such as the big Empresses, vessels of 14,500 tons, will be necessary as soon as it can be secured even if work was started at once. It is estimated that at least five years would be required for the construction of harbor works, and the most conservative estimate advanced by local shipping men is that before that time the tonnage plying to this port will be of such a nature that the works will be of absolute and urgent necessity.

A recent visitor to the city, a shipping man, who has had experience at the betterment of harbors and in many here that the position held by Victoria was certainly of great advantage, but local works would be necessary to make the port available to future shipping in consideration of the modern trend toward greatly increased tonnage. He instanced the great rush of harbor improvements at many ports in view of the increasing shipping, and said that Victoria should commence the consideration of what the future would require with a view of securing such aid as was necessary to construct the required works.

On the other side of the Pacific Japan is spending millions of dollars for the betterment of harbors and in many of the world's shipping ports works are in progress and in others are in contemplation. The British consul at Bahia Blanca, one of the new ports of Brazil, which has been evolved from what two decades ago was a muddy estuary, shows to what great extent the development of harbor works is proceeding there. The consul says that the federal government of Brazil have granted to "La Compagnie Concessionnaire du Port et des Docks de Bahia" the right to construct at Bahia a very extensive system of harbor works, and to exploit the same until the year 1972, when the undertaking will revert to the union. The projected schemes includes the construction of breakwaters, quays, carriage roads along the quays, warehouses, depots, etc. Additional works will consist of two rectilinear breakwaters one of these will be 325 metres in length; it will start from the southern extremity of the marine arsenal, and will be surmounted by a light-house furnished with a revolving light. The other breakwater will be 915 metres in length. Behind the shelter of these breakwaters will be constructed two quays, one of which 655 metres in length, with a depth of 6.5 metres of water alongside, will be used by vessels of small tonnage. The second quay, 1,242 metres in length, with a depth of 9.5 metres of water alongside, will be used by ocean-going vessels. It is announced that the actual work of construction in connection with the proposed scheme is about to be commenced, and it is estimated that the entire project will be completed within a period of six years.

NEW STEAMERS FOR MACKENZIE COMPANY

Two Steam Freighters Under Construction at British Shipyards—Will Charter More

Captain S. F. McKenzie, who is operating the Norwegian steamers Halad and Halvard under charter, and his steamer Henriette and barges Hady Brown, Melanope and Canada in the northern trade, states that by next June two new vessels being built for his service on the British Columbian and Alaskan coast will come to this coast from British shipyards, where they are now being constructed. These two steamers will have a capacity of 3,000 tons and be specially designed for the coast trading trade. They will be 265 feet long, 45 feet beam and will be well equipped with derricks and deck gear to handle cargo, the derricks being capable of lifting 25 ton loads. They will have a speed of 11 knots.

It is probable also that the Mackenzie Steamship company's fleet will be increased by the addition of two other vessels, possibly three chartered vessels. Captain McKenzie stated yesterday that his company was now negotiating for two or three suitable vessels, because the company has negotiated for the movement of a large amount of freight for the coming season, so much that it will be necessary to double the fleet now in service.

During the past season the company's steamers have carried about 63,800 tons of ore to the Vancouver Island smelters from Alaskan mines, the greater amount being brought from Mount Andrew, Carter Bay and Sulzer mines. Northbound the steamers have carried 150 carloads of heavy machinery for the Grangehills, over 2,000,000 feet of lumber and much general freight and live stock.

NEWINGTONS DUE

One Time North Sea Trawler Coming to Be Converted Into Tugboat at Vancouver

The steam trawler Newington, formerly of the North Sea fleet, which left Hull in June, is expected to reach William Head quarantine station today on her way to Vancouver, where she is to be converted into a tugboat for general towage business in connection with the work of a lumber company. The little steamer, which has a tonnage of 61 tons, called at San Francisco on Wednesday and, after securing bunker coals, continued her voyage to this port. The Newington, Captain Volklinghorne, left Hull June 23 and made calls at Plymouth, St. Vincent, Montevideo, Coronel and Callao. The worst weather of the voyage was encountered in the Bay of Biscay, where for more than two weeks the Newington fought southwesterly gales. The little steamship, which makes about 10 knots, came through the Straits of Magellan, where a school of big sharks escorted her for several miles.

Harry Hurlstone, one of the Newington's deck hands, anxiously awaited the arrival at San Francisco, when the vessel docked at the coal bunkers as to the whereabouts of the nearest golf links. He was a bricklayer in England, but explained that a few years before embarking on the Newington he "threw up bricklaying for to go golfing."

His brother, he says, is the champion of Plymouth, and he himself can do an 18-hole course in 80. He expects to get a job as a professional golf player in British Columbia.

The Newington belonged to the fleet of trawlers that was fired upon by the Russian fleet when the latter was on its way to Japan, but the Newington was not with the fishing fleet on that occasion. The Newington is going to Vancouver to be used as a tugboat by a lumber company.

FIVE SHIPS CHARTERED

To Carry Lumber to Different Markets From the Hastings Mills

Five ships are under charter to load lumber at Hastings mills, and within the next few months will take 5,910,000 feet. The bark Royal Sovereign has sailed for Valparaiso with a million and a quarter feet. The bark Hesper now at Port Townsend, is expected to arrive today to load 700,000 feet of lumber for Chile.

The ship Selvroee is now loading 1,400,000 feet for the United Kingdom and will sail about the middle of November.

The British bark Ancenis, now on the way from Callao, in ballast, will load 1,450,000 feet of lumber for the United Kingdom. The bark Invernell is on the way to this port, stopping at Honolulu, where she will discharge a cargo taken at Leith, and will load at Hastings mills 1,100,000 feet of lumber for Europe. She will sail in December.

The American ship Governor Robie is on the way here from New Castle, South Wales, calling at Honolulu, to discharge a cargo of coal, and will load at the Hastings mills for Callao, Peru, 1,200,000. She is expected here in December.

During this year the mill has shipped out between forty-five and fifty million feet of lumber.

INDIANS RETURN

Many Encampments on the Water—Yesterday of Returning Hoppeicks

There were many little canvas encampments on the waterfront yesterday quickly thrown together by crowds of Indians returning from the hopfields in the state of Washington, whither they had proceeded at the close of the fishing season on the Fraser river. The Siwash came as deck passengers of the sound steamers, having, for the most part, abandoned the old-time way of crossing to the sound in their canoes. A large number are awaiting the sailing of the steamer Tees on her next trip to return to their west coast "illaloes."

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

PRICE SHADES OFF IN CHICAGO PIT

Wheat Weakened by Decline in Export Demand and Quietness Abroad

Chicago, Oct. 4.—Liberal realizing sales caused a weak market in wheat today. At the close December wheat was off 1/2c. Corn was a shade lower. Oats were up 1/4c. Provisions were unchanged to a shade higher.

At the opening of today's market much long wheat was offered, holders being anxious to realize on the sharp decline yesterday. The offerings were free throughout the day. The market was also depressed by a decline in the export demand and the failure of the Liverpool market to fully respond to yesterday's advance here. Prices stiffened somewhat about the middle of the day on the report of delayed seedling in Texas and Oklahoma. A slight rise in the export business also aided the bulls just prior to the close. Renewed realizing, however, caused a weak close to the market. December opened 1/2c higher, to 1/2c lower at 100 1/2c, declined to 100 1/4c, and closed at 100 1/4c. Clearances of wheat and flour equal to 264,700 bushels. Exports for the week, as shown by Bradstreet's, were equal to 4,750,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 953,000 bushels, against 1,342,000 bushels on the same day last year. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 563 cars, against 687 cars last week and 820 cars one year ago. The corn market was easy, because of the weakness of wheat and favorable weather for the curing of the new crop. The volume of trade was small, and the market closed easy. December opened a shade to 1/4c lower at 58 1/2c, sold off to 57 1/2c, and then advanced to 58 1/2c. The close was at 58 1/2c. Local receipts were 429 cars, with 146 of contract grade. Oats were firm the greater part of the day, because of the lower estimate on this year's crop made by a well known expert. December opened at 52 1/2c, sold to 52 and then advanced to 52 1/2c. The close was at 52 1/2c. Local receipts were 208 cars. Provisions held steady all day because of an advance in the price of live hogs. At the close January pork was up 1/4c, to $15.10, and $15.12 1/2. Lard was unchanged at $7.72 1/2. Ribs were a shade higher at $7.82 1/2. Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 51 cars; corn, 375 cars; oats, 273 cars; hogs, 9,000 head.

STOCKS IN NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 4.—Dealings in stocks were the smallest for any day thus far this year, and discouraged commission brokers, who expressed small hope of an early betterment of this state of things. Public interest seems non-existent. The sluggish drift of prices today represented nothing more than the tentative manoeuvres initiated by some recent unfortunate ventures, in which the market supply of stocks proved scanty and drove them to cover at a loss. There is no encouragement to buy stocks for an advance which the demand is stagnant. That stocks are in scanty supply, however, was an observed fact in today's market. There was a slow absorption at some points in the market, but it was only on price concessions that it was manifest. The preliminary estimates of the week's currency movement offered one more occasion for the repression of speculative activity in the enormous drain that is making on the New York banks' cash resources, but the feature of the movement is the estimate made by the banks of the heavy movement of balance away from New York on the express movement. It appears that $3,500,000 to $4,000,000 has thus left New York. The indicated cash-

WHOLE SYSTEM SUFFERED FROM STAGNANT KIDNEYS

Experience of a Man Who Almost Died Through Neglecting His Kidneys

Severe and numerous are the aches and pains that warn us of kidney trouble. RHEUMATISM—Almost sure to come in damp or changeable weather. HEADACHES—Blurring before the eyes, dizzy and faint sensations very common. BACKACHES—Sharp stinging pains when bending, throbbing dragging weakness over the spine, lameness in the morning. ACUTE PAINS—Urinary and bladder disorders causing inconvenience day and night.

Such were the conditions through which Mr. McKee, of 24 Hurd St., Halifax, had to live. "Every day I suffered sharp pains across my loins, my back seemed strained and overworked. I was pale and looked haggard and sick. Such mental and physical discomfort was dreadful to endure. Nothing relieved till I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and they put life into my kidneys at once. I grew stronger and felt better while using Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and can recommend them as positive cure in advanced kidney trouble. Dr. Hamilton's Pills always set the kidneys right, always remove the ache, stop the bladder complications and make you well.

For Kidney, Liver and Stomach troubles no prescription ever written gives the sure results of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Sold in 30c. boxes by all dealers.

COKE SUPPLIES ARE INCREASING

Granby Company's New General Manager Makes Important Arrangements

Fernie, Oct. 4.—It now seems assured that there will be no more coke shortages for British Columbia smelters that are supplied by the collieries of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal company. For some time past there have been rumors that some one was securing large interests in this company, and it is now known that the Granby company bought outright a considerable block of the shares of that company.

P. H. McGowan, one of the directors of the company, and Jay P. Graves, general manager of the Granby company, was placed on the board. A week or two ago, Mr. Graves visited Fernie and had a consultation with G. S. Lindsey, the manager of the coal concern, and it is pretty well known that Mr. Graves is a man who does things and has little time for posing as a dummy director, an increased output of coke is already beginning to be felt at all smelters having contracts with the Crow's Nest Pass Coal company. It also goes without saying that no further coke shipments will be made to Montana smelters till British Columbia reduction works are fully supplied.

As everyone in this section is fully aware, the Granby and other smelters have had periodical troubles on account of coke shortage. The Granby directors stood this state of affairs as long as they cared to, and then sharp purchasers an interest in the big coke concern. Competent judges have stated that the Crow's Nest Pass Coal company owns the most valuable and extensive coal measures in the west. It is now a certainty that the concern will be conducted hereafter in a business-like manner, and that its first business will be to dig coal and make coke, rather than to play the game of politics or make trouble with employees. Control has not been secured outright, but it is understood the Granby company has put several hundred thousand dollars in the company, and the voice of Mr. Graves will be heard and his influence felt in the conduct of the company—all of which, it is believed, will be to the benefit of the metalliferous mining industry of British Columbia.

STOCKS IN LONDON

London, Oct. 4.—The demand for money was quiet, and rates were easy in the market today. Americans were affected early in the day by the money fears in New York, but they hardened early in the afternoon on continent and professional support. Later New York accepted the higher level. After fractional gains prices closed dull, with an uncertain tendency. Foreigners were better supported for Paris account. Japanese were firm. Copper shares benefited by the rise in the price of the metal.

PRICES OF METALS

New York, Oct. 4.—The London tin market was unchanged to 15s higher, with spot quoted at £157 15s and futures at £154 5s. Locally the market was dull and unchanged, with spot quoted at $34.62 1/2 to $35.12 1/2. Copper was higher in the London market, with spot quoted by the dealer at £62 and futures at £62. Locally the market was weak and lower, with lake at $14.12 to $14.75; electrolytic, $14 to $14.25; casting, $13.75 to $14.

Lead was unchanged at £19 15s in London, and remained dull, but unchanged in the local market. Spelter was unchanged locally, but advanced to £21 5s in London. Iron was lower in the English market, with standard foundry quoted at 54s 3d and Cleveland warrants at 55s 3d. The local market was weaker in tone, and continued dull. Quotations, No. 1 northern, $19.75 to $20.50; No. 2 northern, $19.25 to $20; southern grades nominal.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS IN UNITED STATES

Bradstreet's Reports Indicate Limiting of Operations by Stringency of Money

New York, Oct. 4.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Trade reports are irregular, some lines noting a relatively larger volume of business than this time last year, while others indicate an opposite tendency. For the moment, business is of a filling-in order, although some sections report an enlarged house trade, owing to fall carnivals. Retail trade on the whole has been hampered by unseasonable weather, temperatures being too high for the freest movement of staples. Collections, while still dragging in consequence of the tightness in money, appear to have improved at a number of centres.

Some orders for early spring goods are being placed, but the volume of business is rather light. Many industrial lines are less active on new business, and working forces in such lines as iron, steel, car manufacturing, electrical goods, shoe manufacturing and copper mining are being reduced. Lumber is less active, and new buildings are lighter, due in part to the stringency in money. The edge is off for cotton goods, but printed and woven dress goods are still very strong. Wool is active and coal is in demand, with a security of cars in the west and of boats in the east. The strike of shop hands, silk operators and furriers affects the output in some centres.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending Oct. 3, number 177, against 166 last week, 135 in the like week last year and 220 in this week a year ago.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending Oct. 3 aggregated 4,731,950 bushels, against 4,876,737 last week and 4,917,021 this week of last year. For the first fourteen weeks of the fiscal year, the exports are 48,450,523 bushels, against 47,795,043 in 1906 and 1907. Corn exports for the week were 498,474, against 416,180 bushels last week and 846,000 bushels in 1906. For the fiscal year to date the exports are 15,023,260 bushels, against 9,300,361 in 1907 and 1907.

INCREASED DEPOSITS

Savings of Canadians Show Remarkable Gains in Past Few Years

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 4.—There was at the credit of depositors in Post Office and Dominion Government savings banks at the end of June, 1870, a sum of $2,411,000, which grew to $7,044,000 in 1875, to $53,150,000 in 1900, and to $61,911,000 in 1906.

Altogether there was at the credit of depositors in chartered and savings banks in 1906 a sum of $667,880,000, whereof the large amount of $309,590,000 has been an accumulation of this century.

In the chartered banks alone the increase of deposits from $48,763,000 in 1870 to $305,140,000 in 1900 and to $605,968,000 in 1906, shows the very large extent to which the banks have been assisted above their own capital in maintaining the business of the country.

TELLS HOW TO MIX IT

Directions To Prepare Remarkable Home Mixture

A well-known authority on Rheumatism gives the following valuable, yet simple and harmless, prescription, which any one can easily prepare at home:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost, and, being of vegetable extraction, are harmless to take.

This pleasant mixture, if taken regularly for a few days, is said to overcome almost any case of Rheumatism. The pain and swelling, if any, diminishes with each dose, until permanent results are obtained, and without injuring the stomach. While there are many so-called Rheumatism remedies, patent medicines, etc., some of which do give relief, few really give permanent results, and the above will, no doubt, be greatly appreciated by many sufferers here at this time.

CHOICE BUILDING SITE FOR AN APARTMENT HOUSE

As a business proposition, an up-to-date apartment house pays handsome profits. In Victoria the absence of such a house is generally remarked and at the same time regretted by the numerous Eastern new-comers. I have the exclusive sale of

FIVE CHOICE LOTS

Centrally situated, within five minutes' walk of Post Office, and a like distance from Beacon Hill Park, where values are steadily increasing. The position cannot be equalled, and commands a clear view of mountains and sea. This is indeed the ideal location for a select apartment house.

Price $7,000.00 Only

For Full Particulars apply A. W. Bridgman, 41 Government St.

Good Speculative Buys

We beg to call your attention to two excellent chances to make some money. The first mentioned below is splendid fruit land, with water frontage on Elk Lake. It is heavily timbered contains very little rock, has frontage on old West Saanich Road and commands a beautiful view of the lake. At the price quoted it is one of the best opportunities ever offered in the city.

The second proposition is all good land of which there is about 25 acres cleared, the balance being heavily timbered. It is estimated there are 8,000 cords of wood on the property, which alone is worth the purchase price.

CHINESE REBELS

HEAVY LOSERS

Treasurers at Many Points De-

camp With Five Million Dollars of Funds

There is distress in Chinatown, for the treasure chest to which many local Chinese had subscribed for revolutionary purposes has been looted to the tune of five million dollars. The San Francisco Call tells the tale of the happening as follows:

"Five million dollars, one-fifth of it contributed by Americanized malcontents, has been stolen from the coffers of the great revolutionary society which has been plotting for years to accomplish the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty in China. The money disappeared simultaneously from five different headquarters of the rebels and the despoiled society attributes the financial calamity to the sagacity of Tsi An, the aged emperor dowager, who has been consistently strangling all progress since she made the young emperor a mere innocuous name several years ago.

Failing to prevent the alarming spread of the revolutionary propaganda the ringleaders wherever found, the wise old woman despot at last has struck a fearful blow, completely paralyzing the movement, which was rapidly crystallizing, and arresting perhaps for years the bloody outbreak which up to a week ago seemed about to occur at any time.

To accomplish her latest scheme Tsi An employed the unique method of buying up important official personalities. She sent the purchased agents to the councils of the secret organizations. They took, apparently, a prominent part in the vigorous denunciation of the tyrannous dynasty and obtained the treasurerships.

The result of their prompt and efficient work is mourned today wherever there is a Chinese, and the object of the revolutionary movement—the establishment of nothing less than a republic, modeled after the government of the United States—has been defeated for a time at least.

More than 1,000,000 of China's teeming population are affected by this gigantic royal steal. The revolutionists number that many, and each member of the society has been contributing $1 a month for several years. Their object was to equip armies, defeat the forces of the Royalists loyal to the present dynasty, then buy ships and create a navy of their own.

The purpose of this latter project is interesting to Americans, for it had for its object the crushing of Japan's vaunting pride by annihilating its sea power and retrieving the honor sacrificed in the war thirteen years ago. This patriotic scheme has been shattered by the quick, decisive action of the emperor's agents.

San Francisco and Oakland Chinatowns heard of the calamity when Loo Lin, a well known restaurateur of Mott street, New York, arrived there, bringing news that Mock Fook, treasurer of the revolutionary society in the eastern metropolis, had disappeared with thousands of dollars. From there the news was forwarded to Victoria.

Loo Lin also had cablegrams which confirmed rumors that had been circulated here for days that the revolutionary financial chiefs in Hongkong, Shanghai, Tientsin and Manila also had decamped with all the funds in the treasury.

The amount of all the contributions is said to be $5,000,000. The central body of the revolutionary society, which has ramifications wherever there are more than half a dozen Chinese, is located in Hongkong. There the treasurer waited until the government regular contributions from the local branches and then left presumably for the palace of the empress.

Jeanne Cordonnier Had Trying Time Off Cape Horn.

The French bark Jeanne Cordonnier, which has arrived at Seattle, 133 days from London with cement via Hobart, Tasmania, had a most stormy voyage. The trip was one long continuous record of storms and head winds. Three times the vessel was forced to run before the gales under bare poles while the breakers curled over the bulwarks and washed the decks clean of everything movable. Several times when called on to reef sails to meet oncoming storms the vessel was heeled over by squalls until the yards touched the waves and more than one of the sailors felt that she would never right herself.

One exceptionally fierce gale struck the vessel off the Kerquelen Islands, southwest of Cape of Good Hope. There two of the top-sails were blown away and a huge wave broke over the port side, sweeping one of the lifeboats from its fastenings. The boat was thrown against the corner of the deck house with such force that its bows were stove in. A sailor named Pichot was pinned against the wall by the derelict lifeboat and had his arm broken, while two others suffered minor injuries before the craft was rescued and made fast.

The Cordonnier left London April 4, touching at Hobart Town, Tasmania, on July 15, where a stop of a week was made.

GOVERNOR EXPECTED.

New Steamer for San Francisco Route Starts Tonight.

The steamer Governor, the new twin screw passenger and freight steamer of the Pacific Coast Steamship company, will arrive in Port on her first trip here this afternoon and will sail at 7.30 p.m. after loading several hundred tons of freight, including 200 tons of fertilizer. Mr. Thomson, boiler inspector, went to Seattle yesterday to inspect the new steamer, and Mr. Kinghorn, inspector of hulls, will inspect her this afternoon on her arrival here.

MARINE NOTES

The steamer Acon of the Australian Mail line, which is taking the place of the Governor in this service, is expected to reach Chemainus today from San Francisco via William Head, to load lumber as part cargo for Australia. The steamer is to sail about Oct. 20, from Puget Sound for the Antipodes via San Francisco.

The tug William Jolliffe under charter to the marine department left yesterday morning for Esquimalt to place the whistling buoy removed from Port San Juan and for Hesquott, where supplies will be landed for Estevan point light.

The schooner Winslow loading lumber at Tacoma, is taking a cargo brought by rail from Ashland intended for Esquimalt. The Winslow will carry the lumber to San Pedro where it will be shipped by rail to Chicago. The roundabout route is necessary owing to the failure of the lumber shippers to secure cars at Tacoma.

The steamer Earl, which was used by the provincial police and fishery agents as a patrol vessel on the Fraser river during the fishing season, has been returned to the William Head quarantine staff, and was in port yesterday in place of the tender Madge, which was blown down.

The Kaiser's Press Cutting Agency

The German emperor's interest in everything that goes on in the world is well known, but not every one is aware of the trouble he takes to keep in touch with current affairs. According to a Munich newspaper the Kaiser reads at least three papers every day, changing the list several times a week in order to become fully acquainted with the ideas of all political parties in the state. But this by no means exhausts his appetite for information. Every day the ministry for foreign affairs, as well as that of the interior, has to provide newspaper cuttings, properly named and dated and pasted on slips ready for the emperor's perusal. These he carefully reads, making marginal notes as he goes along, and they are then scrupulously classified and put aside ready for immediate reference. Often, too, the emperor, whose catholicity of interest and insistence on method would prove invaluable to many a journalist, asks for cuttings relating to the particular technical subject to which for the time he is specially interested.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Misa Bookey—"You are from Boston, I believe, Mr. Staples?" Mr. Staples:—"Yes, I have lived there several years." Then, you must know all about Browning and Emerson?" "No—no, I don't know that I do. Clothing firm, isn't it?"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Cured her Father's Drunkenness by a Simple Remedy.

Saves her father from a drunkard's grave. Free sample of Samaria Tasteless Prescription checks his drinking and leads to a complete cure.

"It seemed hopeless to keep father from drinking, and we all felt the disgrace. When things were at their worst a friend advised me to try Samaria. I saw that you offered a free sample treatment and that the remedy was tasteless and building. I determined to try it, and, have been glad every day since. The treatment, which I gave him in his tea, cured him, and I am pleased to say he never touched whisky or drank again."
